Despite continuous bombing and strafing by Japanese airmen, Singapore's artillery has blasted enemy observation posts, knocked out opposing batteries and spread destruction in the transport of Japanese troops into jump-off points for invasion of this island stronghold.

That the Japanese still have not won complete control of the air was demonstrated this morning by Hurricane fighters of the RAF which intercepted a large formation over Singapore, shot down one Jap plane, probably another and damaged a third.

JAPS MOVE TOWARD RANGOON

Rangoon

Feb. 5 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By DANIEL DE LUCE

The British officially acknowledged today that Japanese patrols had crossed the lower Salween River at a number of points since the invaders occupied Moulmein last Saturday.

The Japanese occupied Paan, 30 miles above Moulmein, several days ago, a British military spokesman said, and the RAF reported it had subjected the town to a heavy bombing attack today.

At the same time British patrols were reported to have penetrated the enemy lines on the east bank of the Salween river.

The military spokesman declared that the British command intends to hold Rangoon "at all costs, but," he added, "if Rangoon should go, it would not mean the end of Burma or the Burma road." Although Rangoon is the chief port for the Burma road, the allied supply route to China, other routes are believed available.

Reports from the Salween front said the Japanese still were balked in their attempt to capture Martaban, across the mouth of the river from Moulmein, by the swift-flowing Salween river itself and by heavy British artillery fire from the west bank.

Since the first of the week they have been trying by heavy artillery fire and bombing to make Martaban untenable for its British and Indian garrison, but British headquarters said this effort had failed. The Japanese air force meanwhile bombed Rangoon twice just before dawn today. Explosions were heard in the eastern and northern section of the city. This city is 100 miles northwest of the Salween mouth.

DUTCH HUNT SOERABAJA'S ATTACK BASE

Batavia

Feb. 5 (INS)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By JOSEPH J. KOSAK

Coincident with the second savage air raid on the great Netherlands Indies naval base of Soerabaja in three days, Dutch ships and planes today launched a widespread search for a Japanese aircraft carrier, believed to be in nearby waters.

The fighter-escorted raids on Soerabaja and attacks by enemy fighters on Dutch Timor at the southern end of the rich archipelago, strengthened belief a carrier must be operating near by.

The nearest Japanese base is in the Kendari region of southern Celebes, 700 miles from Soerabaja, well beyond the effective flying range of fighter planes.

In today's attack on Soerabaja, fires were started and some damage was caused.

The Netherlands East Indies communique said the commander and part of the garrison at Balikpapan succeeded in fighting their way through the Japanese lines.

Previously it had been revealed that all oil installations at Balikpapan had been destroyed prior to the Japanese occupation. Fighting still is continuing in the Balikpapan area.

The communique added the Dutch mine layer Prince of Orange, which was stationed at Tarakan, the tiny oil island off the Borneo coast at the time of the Japanese attack there, "must be assumed not to have succeeded" in escaping. There was no further news of developments on Ambon Island, site of the Ambon naval base.

JAPS EASE DRIVE ON MACARTHUR

Washington

Feb. 5 (INS)

U. S. OFFICIAL

By JOSEPH A. BORS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

A distinct curtailment of enemy aerial activity over Batan peninsula led Washington military observers to express the belief today that Japanese preoccupation in other war theaters is preventing them from launching the long-promised knockout drive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Philippine forces.

For the past two weeks MacArthur's daily reports to the War Department have emphasized the fact that Japan is keeping only a few planes in the Philippines. Given a breathing spell from bombing and strafing, the American-Philippine forces have concentrated on repelling and breaking up Japanese frontal and land attacks with smashing success.

While war experts do not consider MacArthur's position as entirely hopeless, they point out that the defenders' plight still is critical because of the numerical superiority of the enemy.

OFFICIAL NEWS

A hospital ship carrying wounded American soldiers and nurses from the Philippines to an Australian port was attacked nine times in one day by Japanese bombers and fighter planes which "came over like swarms of flies," it was disclosed today.

One of the wounded soldiers said the raids took place between mid-day and late afternoon of Jan. 8, but that "all the wounded were cheerful and declared their only wish was to get well and have another crack at the Japs."

(The ship apparently was the 2067-ton Macatan, which the U. S. Army announced on Jan. 15 had reached Darwin, Australia, after sailing from Manila shortly before New Year's. This would seem to locate the attack as somewhere off the Dutch East Indies island of Celebes.)

A nurse said the bombing gave her "butterfly stomachitis" and added "we tried to grin and bear it and carried on the best we could but the bomb crashes made our stomachs act as though butterflies were flying about inside."

The hospital ship conveyed wounded from Manila, where it sailed within 50 hours after being chartered by the American Red Cross.

(Arrival of the wounded with their first-person stories of Japanese brutality gave the lie to an official Japanese wireless broadcast yesterday asserting the United States hospital ship Macatan had reached Australia safely with 200 American soldiers "after being allowed to sail unharmed under Japanese government supervision.")

(The Macatan is a 2067-ton vessel, built in 1899 and registered at Manila. In accordance with international regulations, it could be used as a hospital ship only if red crosses were painted clearly on its sides and deck-tops and if Red Cross flags were flown from the mastsheads, precautions Gen. MacArthur obviously took before attempting to send his wounded from danger.)

4-Alarm Dock Fire Menaces Navy Yard

Two firemen were injured today as a four-alarm fire swept Pier 45, Mystic Docks, Charlestown, causing a loss estimated by Fire Chief Samuel Pope at $75,000. The fire, cause undetermined, was at the same pier where, five years ago, the Danish freighter Laila burned while unloading nitrate, with many firemen injured and a loss of $250,000.

3 SUBS ATTACKING U.S. LINER, FLEE WARPLANE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—An American passenger ship arrived today after a thrilling escape from three Axis submarines which made crash dives when a patrol plane appeared on the scene while the unarmed ship was trying to ram one of the U-boats.

Although the captain of the liner (name withheld by the Navy) refused comment on his attempt to ram the undersea raider, crew members said the U-boats were sighted on the surface last Sunday afternoon shortly after the vessel left West Indies port.

"They crash-dived when the plane appeared and one of them was so close he passed under the ship," a crew member said.

(Third Naval District headquarters allowed publication of its story after conferring with Washington officials.)

After the submarines disappeared American planes escorted the vessel the rest of the day as she zigzagged through dangerous waters. The liner brought in 25 survivors of the Canadian liner Lady Hawkins, torpedoed and sunk Jan. 19, with a loss of 251 lives.

The survivors were Chief Officer Percy A. Kelly, eight members of his crew and 16 American defense workers en route to a southern base when the ship was sunk.

26 Billion Navy Bill Goes to F. D.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate completed legislative action in five minutes today on a $26,495,285,474 naval supply bill, boosting Congress' total military appropriations to approximately $39,000,000,000 in the first month of this session.

This action followed swiftly on a 72-0 vote by which it passed and sent to the White House a measure making $500,000,000 in financial aid available to China.

The huge naval bill, largest measure of its kind ever to win final approval of a legislative body, now goes to President Roosevelt. Congress previously had voted and the President approved a $12,550,000,000 Army airplane appropriation.

While guards watched for sparks today at Boston Navy Yard, diagonally across Little Mystic River and Chelsea st., thick black smoke rolled over the area. Thousands flocked to the scene.

The fire started in a section of Pier 45 occupied by a First National Stores warehouse. The other end of the pier is occupied by E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc., as a storehouse for its ammonia division, but a fire wall separated the two sections.

FIREMEN IN MASKS

Because of the thick smoke and the danger from chemical fumes should the fire manage to get beyond the dividing wall, firemen worked in gas masks.

Early during the battle, Hoseman John McKenna, 28, of Hubert st., Roxbury, attached to Engine 36, fractured his right ankle. He was taken to City Hospital.

At the height of the blaze, Fireman John M. Burke of Engine 13 suffered a nail puncture in one foot.

The third alarm for the fire was sounded six minutes after the first had been sent in, the second alarm being skipped. The fourth alarm came two minutes after the third, when it was feared the flames might sweep other docks.

The four alarms called apparatus from as far as Roxbury and Jamaica Plain, summoned three fireboats up through the draw of Chelsea bridge, and brought extra police details from all divisions.

FIREBOATS ON JOB

The Boston Towboat Co. sent two of its towboats, equipped with pumps, to aid in the fight from the water side. These and the fireboats were augmented a little later by a Navy tug sent from the Navy Yard.

Meanwhile several launches, manned by bluejackets, stood off

IN JUNIOR ARMY—Helen Minsk, Alice Kagan and Irene Smith, all of Dorchester, and Sylvia Sidman of Mattapan (l. to r.) are among the new members of the Junior Victory Army. They'll be among the 500 boys and girls who will start a campaign Feb. 15 in Dorchester, Mattapan and Roxbury to collect papers and magazines for the USO. The drive will be conducted by A. Z. A., junior organization of the B'nai B'rith.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS AMONG N. E. YOUTHS FOR NEW JUNIOR ARMY

"The Junior Victory Army is something we can get our teeth into." "We want to do something extra special." "I don't want to be an innocent bystander." "I want to do everything within my power to preserve this grand land of ours."

It is Young America speaking. It is the boys and girls of New England as they sit down and write notes to Junior Victory Army headquarters to send along with their enrollment blanks in the new civilian defense youth movement.

As hundreds keep enlisting, many slip into the envelopes bearing their enrollment blanks notes and letters giving their unstinted enthusiasm to the Junior Army plan and expressing their genuine sincerity and eagerness to help.

The Junior Victory Army is open to all girls and boys 10 to 18 years old living in New England. They can enroll simply by filling in the membership blank accompanying this story and following its instructions.

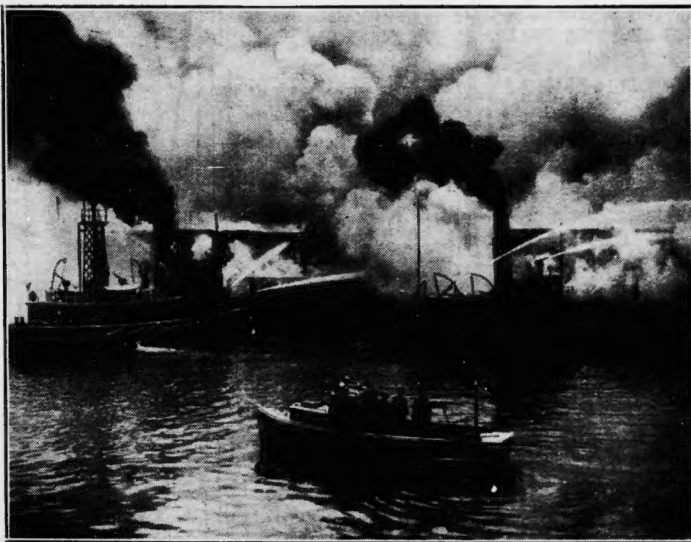

Those who send a ten-cent coin (well wrapped) with their enrollment blank will receive an attractive red, white and blue insignia pin to wear on their coat, blouse or cap. The ten cents covers the cost of making and mailing the pin. It is not necessary, however, to obtain one of these pins to be a member.

The pins will be ready in about two weeks for distribution by mail to the hundreds of boys and girls who have already enrolled. Their enrollment blanks are being carefully filed and the pins will go out in the order of "first come, first served."

The pins will be a metal facsimile of the insignia appearing at the top of the membership blank. New members to enroll today included:

Helen Minsk, 18, of 54 Jones ave.; Alice Kagan, 17, of 120 Capen st., and Irene Smith, 16, of 128 Capen st., all Dorchester, and Sylvia Sid-

BUS HITS BOY, THEN TREE; SIX INJURED

Six persons were injured today when a bus, loaded with 20 passengers, struck a small boy in Salem st., Malden, then skidded on the snow-covered pavement and hurtled against a tree.

The boy, 8-year-old Jerry Damato of Coleman st., Malden, was knocked down and suffered two gashes on his head.

Police said the bus skidded when the driver, George Cafarella, 45, of Saugus, veered it sharply to avoid the boy.

In addition to the boy and Cafarella, who suffered internal injuries when the steering wheel was driven against his body, the injured were:

Mrs. Henrietta Forrest, 53, of Essex st., Saugus, severe back injuries.

Mrs. Anna Gibbons of Steves st., Malden, fractured nose.

Mrs. Edward Marshall, 39, of Upland ave., Newton Highlands, sprained right leg.

Mrs. Lillian Foote, 40, of Hamlet pl., Malden, bruises and shock.

All but Mrs. Foote, who refused hospital treatment, were taken to Maplewood Hospital.

LONG IGNORES BUSHNELL ON MEAL TAX

Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long today completely ignored the threat of Atty-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell to override meal tax interpretations issued by Long.

"I don't care to read the statement nor have I any comment," Long said when asked if he had read Bushnell's blast at him.

Bushnell criticized Long's persistence in claiming the right to apply the 5 per cent tax to two or more meals costing $1 or over and paid for by one person, that the tax should be applied only to each separate meal costing $1 or more and asserted this was the Legislature's declaration of its intention during the recent emergency session.

Bushnell also chided Long for failing to co-operate with him as the Legislature had requested.

Bushnell said he communicated with Long, who in reply questioned the force and effect of the legislative order and asked for an opinion "as to what extent, if at all, it is constitutionally binding upon me as commissioner of corporations and taxation."

Bushnell stated that in answer he wrote to Long:

"I dislike to believe that you are deliberately attempting by such a reply to avoid compliance with the order. It is perfectly clear to me that by its action the Legislature desired to make an attempt to remedy an intolerable situation with regard to the meal tax. I expect you to comply with the legislative order without further delay."

Defense Area Housing Short

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A critical housing shortage is indicated in almost half of the nation's key defense areas and residential vacancies were found to be below normal in nine-tenths of such areas, the Works Project Administration reported today.

The agency said it surveyed 287 defense areas and that in all but 25 the gross number of vacant family dwelling units was less than 5 per cent, the figure considered "normal," and in most cases less than half the vacant dwellings were habitable.

In 111 areas, the report disclosed, the vacancy ratio was less than 2 per cent, indicating a "critical" housing shortage.

The Federal Government now has under way programs calling for expenditure of approximately $500,000,000 for housing facilities in defense areas.

3D SIGNER OF OUSTER AIDS LEWIS

Another signer of the petition seeking ouster of Mayor Frank E. Lewis of Everett for alleged corrupt practices today admitted he had no personal knowledge of the charges contained in the document as trial continued before three superior court judges in Suffolk court.

Hugh McNeil of Tufts ave., Everett, told Judges Joseph Walsh, Thomas H. Dowd and Jesse Morton, Jr., he knew only what Atty. James J. Irwin, instigator of the complaint, told him.

"I've been sorry ever since I signed the petition," McNeil said.

OBJECTS TO SPEECH
Margaret McPhee, Irwin's sister-in-law, previously testified what ever knowledge she had of the charges was based on what Irwin told her.

Irwin, taking the stand, was subjected to close questioning by Judge Dowd after interrupting the chief complainant to comment:

"Please give us evidence, not a speech."

"That's what I'm trying to do," replied Irwin. "I've told you I saw voters being transported to and from the polls in autos. I told you I saw the check list in operation at the voting places, and I've introduced exhibits showing Lewis spent more than the law allows."

"Do you consider that evidence?" asked Judge Dowd.

To Irwin's affirmative answer, the jurist replied:

"That's where you and I don't agree. When are we going to get evidence?"

Rufus W. Clark, retired Everett fire captain, who signed the petition, said he did not believe the charges and only signed the petition to let Irwin prove them if he could.

The court still has under advisement a motion by Atty. Daniel Lyons, representing Mayor Lewis, that the charges be dismissed.

Mrs. Morgan, daughter of a prominent New Jersey physician, testified in Middlesex Probate Court that Morgan, son of the late Dr. Field C. Morgan, turned the bliss of 12 years of married life to ashes by revealing the other woman in February, 1940.

"I was stunned," said the pretty chestnut-haired mother of two children, "but for the sake of the children I tried to be sensible."

TELLS SAD STORY

She pictured her husband as being torn between his love for her rival and his sense of responsibility to home and family—but with the other woman finally winning out.

At first the wife persuaded him to give up his new friend, and this he did for a while, she said, continuing:

"But last May he came to me and said he must see her again. He was gone for an entire week. I spent a terrific week. I couldn't eat or sleep."

"When he came back he said he had decided he would have to go and fight this thing out by himself."

And, she testified, he took up residence in a Back Bay hotel in June and July. Meanwhile, her health was ruined and she had a "continual lump in my throat."

FOUND THEIR LETTERS

While he was away, she testified, friends prevailed on her to take a vacation by herself on Cape Cod, and that, she said, led to the most cruel discovery of all—she came across letters exchanged by her husband and his girl friend in which they had plotted to live in her home while she was away.

"It was then that I went to pieces," she declared.

But evidently Morgan still couldn't make up his mind, for she testified that in the following September he telephoned, announcing he was "coming home to his wife and children."

She took him back, but her hopes again were dashed, for in a few weeks he was back again seeing the "other woman," she said.

Mrs. Morgan won the custody of the children, Field Paul, Jr., 7, and Sally Ann, 13, but no alimony settlement was announced in court.

Congress Probe Is Asked Of Fat-Salary OCD Jobs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (INS)—Rep. Leland M. Ford (R.) of California who bitterly assailed appointment of Movie Star Melvyn Douglas and Youth Leader Joseph Lash to the Office of Civilian Defense, today demanded a congressional investigation of the "whole setup" in OCD.

The demand was made in a statement to newspapermen after Ford was informed OCD had hired Maryris Chaney, a dancer, at $4600 a year to head the OCD's physical fitness section dealing with children's activities.

Miss Chaney, Douglas and Lash are all friends of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is associate OCD director.

"The Office of Civilian Defense either is or is not an important function of our government," Ford said. "I believe it is, and, if it is, it doesn't need a lot of baloney to put it over."

"It is ridiculous to pay all these high salaries for that sort of thing. The money should be spent in the way it was intended."

"The whole thing behind these playboys goes back to the philosophy that this is a Roman holiday to be paid for by the government. These people haven't realized yet what war really means."

"The appropriations committee should conduct a thorough investigation into the whole setup."

KELLY, WEST SEEK TOBIN OUSTER ACTION

Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly and Atty. Albert West today filed in superior court a motion looking toward clearing the way for the start of the ouster hearing against Mayor Tobin on charges that he violated the Corrupt Practices Act.

The two lawyers asked in their brief that the court vacate a motion filed by the Tobin side to vacate the court order of Jan. 2—which gave a committee of citizens leave to file an election petition against the mayor.

Today's motion was based principally on the ground that all rulings now rest with the board of three judges to be appointed to hear the ouster petition.

It was set forth also in today's motion that the respondent mayor has no appeal from any decision of the three judges.

Burns Fatal To Widow of John Lambert

Mrs. John T. Lambert, prominent club woman and widow of the former associate publisher of the Boston Evening American, died today at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital from burns suffered Jan. 27 when fire swept her apartment in the Warwick, Beacon st., Brookline.

Mrs. Lambert, the former Anna Foye of Manchester, N. H., was rescued from the burning apartments by Sergt. Robert Maloney and Radio Patrolman James Moreland and John Prendergast, after the sergeant had seen flames breaking from windows in the apartment and radioed the station.

Mrs. Lambert had fainted near the door after apparently trying to reach the corridor. She was badly burned about the head and arms.

Her husband, former Boston and Washington newspaper correspondent, had been for eight months vice-president of the Eastern Racing Ass'n when he died suddenly at the Woodland Golf Club, Auburndale, in September, 1939.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 5 (AP)—Lily, heiress cat, is down to her last $2868.

The coal black kitten received $5000 in the will of her mistress, Miss Annie Hansche, who died four years ago.

C. H. S. Bidwell, trustee of the fund, who appointed his wife to the $50-a-month job as Lily's custodian, died three months ago.

Mrs. Bidwell told the court yesterday she had been unable to collect her ward's board bill because a new trustee has not been named.

She asked for the job, reporting Lily's appetite for liver, grade A milk and catnip has consumed all save $2868 of her inheritance.

GARNETT, Kan., Feb. 5 (AP)—If you were a cat and had to walk from Garnett to Augusta, Kan., it'd take more than a year. That's 147 miles.

Mrs. Mary Skiles figured it out today after her big Persian cat limped home from 'cross state.

She shipped Tabby to her son, Ernest, at Augusta in January, 1941. It disappeared soon after and had been given up for dead.

VICTOR, THE BEAUTIFUL, ISN'T SO PRETTY NOW!

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5 (AP)—Victor (Mr. Beautiful) Mature is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, suffering from primrose poisoning. Dr. Webb Marner said the screen star probably would be confined four or five days until he recovers from the unusual rash.

The usually handsome Victor Mature was a mess. From ankles to forehead he was tarred—with lamp-black and cold cream—and feathered. Suddenly he had an unhappy thought.

"No one will believe it's me. They'll swear I used a double," he almost sobbed. "I ought to, at that."

Victor Mature

Director Irving Cummings had employed psychology to induce Mr. Beautiful to be tarred, feathered and ridden on a rail. Mature, in the story, is assistant to a pitch man who defrauds a crowd, then disappears.

Ruffians vent their rage on Victor Mature, looking like an animated mass of feathers, was dumped off the rail into some bushes.

"Okay!" shouted Cummings. "Didn't hurt, did it, Vic?"

"These feathers didn't cushion the fall any," griped Mature, starting to tear off the things. A cameraman said they'd better make another shot. They did.

Vic didn't fall so easily. His shoulders hit the hard ground first, then his back and hips with a loud, hollow p-o-p.

Mature looked around belligerently. No one suggested a retake. "I should have used a double,"

Vic muttered. "You can't tell me from . . . from . . . from Jolson. Ma-a-am-me-e-e. Ma-a-am-me-e-e . . . Aw, nuts!"

If Vic only had known . . .

Dr. Marner explained that Mature, nervous and fatigued from weeks of movie making, was an easy victim of the poisoning, presumably contracted from the bushes. Vic's arms, legs and back are badly swollen.

"I should have used a double."

Kissing Dog Put in Jail

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Rally round for the story of the kissing dog, or, all the world loves a lover, except the police department and Eddie Jones.

Eddie was accosted early today by a stray Belgian shepherd—later tagged "Romeo the Great" by the cops—and didn't like the canine attentions.

"This dog picked me up and has been kissing me," Eddie told Lieut. Patrick Toohey.

Romeo soon afterward transferred his affection to Lieut. Toohey and Patrolman James McNiff, both married men.

"What would our wives say?" Officer McNiff questioned. "What'll we do with this Romeo, lieutenant?"

"Well," replied Toohey, after the dog had kissed him a number of times, "I'll soon put a stop to this. Lock him up!"

A disillusioned dog waited in a station house cell for the A. S. P. C. A. to take him away.

FBI ROUNDUP SCARED SPIES, BLONDE SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—An FBI roundup of German spies in the summer of 1941 was said by a witness in federal court today to have hampered the operations of several members of another alleged espionage ring.

One man fled to a mountain hideout and a woman made plans to leave for Japan with information

FLED TO MOUNTAIN

Miss Boehmler testified that after the 1941 roundup—which resulted in 33 convictions—Kurt Frederick Ludwig, named by the government as leader of the defendants now on trial, fled to a Pocono Mountain hideout.

She said that she, Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, Hans Helmuth Pagel and Karl Mueller, defendants, and her uncle, Oscar Huttenlauch, visited Ludwig there in July, 1941.

The witness said that Ludwig learned from Mrs. Mayer that she had received two cablegrams from her husband, Walter Mayer, from Japan, one saying that he was seriously ill and for her to come to him immediately; the other, sent to a different address, informing her that he was well and believed it best for her to leave the United States.

"DON'T WRITE IT DOWN"

Ludwig, Miss Boehmler said, told Mrs. Mayer how to obtain a passport, and gave her a series of instructions and information on defense industries, army camps and Douglas bombers.

"Don't write it down, try to remember it and give it to the right people in Germany," the witness quoted Ludwig as saying to Mrs. Mayer.

Mrs. Mayer, the witness said, told Ludwig at the time that the situation was getting "too dangerous" and that she couldn't help him any more.

Ludwig told the group, Miss Boehmler testified, that he was going to leave shortly for the West. Ludwig was arrested by federal agents in the state of Washington in September, 1941.

On the stand yesterday Miss Boehmler, an attractive German-born blonde, testified that no less an authority than Heinrich Himmler, Nazi Gestapo chief, received information on identities, cargoes, origins and likely sailing plans of ships in New York harbor as well as data on eastern seaboard forts and plane factories.

WAR FUND REACHES NEW BOSTON HIGH

Jubilant over subscriptions of $5,655,000—the largest amount ever raised for charity in Boston—more than 30,000 volunteer workers quickened step today in the drive to put over the $7,500,000 Greater Boston United War Fund by next Wednesday night.

As workers prepared for another report luncheon tomorrow at the Boston City Club, Maynard Hutchinson, general chairman, declared there must be no let down.

"There is still $1,945,000 to be raised," he said, "and workers are going to find in this case that the last million is the hardest."

SCHOOL AIDS FUND

Among the latest subscriptions to reach campaign headquarters was one of $38.18 delivered in person by a delegation of pupils of the Daniel Butler School, Belmont.

The fund was presented by the following students: Charles Micala, Anthony Bonanno, George Butt, Warren Brooks, Cynthia Cleveland, Phyllis DiNatta and Carroll Goss.

At the same time it was announced that Navy Yard workers had gone over the top with a record quota of 115.3 per cent.

FRANKLIN OVER TOP

Also joining the select group of units which had surpassed their set quotas was the town of Franklin, with 114 per cent, while the special gifts committee, with a mark of 94.3 per cent, is expected to go over the top within a day or two.

The Public Employees Division, headed by William J. Sheehan, had the highest turn-in of the day with 23.6 per cent, bringing its total to 89 per cent.

The quota percentages reached by the other major divisions were: Consumer, 62; Districts, 69.9; Financial, 65; Industrial, 71.1; Metropolitan, 66.6; and Service, 62.7.

Hub Girl Gives Clue to 2 in $950 Holdup

Police of eight states today were on the lookout for two gunmen, described by their Boston girl friend as "desperate and not afraid to shoot," for the armed holdup of a New Bedford insurance office.

The bandits escaped with $950 from the office of Guilherme M. Luiz in Rivet st., New Bedford, after cowing three persons at gunpoint.

Boston police picked up a South End girl who said two men with whom she and another girl associated were the bandits. Both men, according to police, have long records and New Bedford police said their descriptions tallied with those given by the victims.

The bandits forced Antone De Freitas, cashier, to empty the cash register, then huddled him and his wife, Mary, into the cashier's cage. Armand Paulo, 29, of Hemlock st., entered the store to buy a newspaper and he was also locked up.

The gunmen then backed out of the front door, bumping into Miss Olivia Luiz, sister of Mrs. De Freitas, who saw them speed away in a black sedan.

The girl who gave away her heart

THERE is an ancient legend about a poor cobbler's daughter who wanted to pay homage to her king on his birthday.

All the people in the land made a pilgrimage to his castle bearing gifts.

The cobbler's daughter was among them. She stood for hours in a queue that stretched out into the courtyard. There were silk-bedecked traders from the East who came with caskets of frankincense and myrrh, and rich merchants who heaped rare jewels at his throne.

When the little girl came before her king, her eyes filled with tears. "I have no treasures for thee," she sobbed; "nothing but this raggedy doll. It is so little to give."

"Nay, it is much," said the king. "The others have given me part of their purse, but you have given me all of your heart—the most priceless gift in the world."

The Wives Look Forward to "SUPPERS OUT"

"ABOUT ONCE A WEEK
 my wife and I spend an evening in town," said an acquaintance of mine the other night as we were threading our way through the crowds in front of the South Station. "Now that our children are grown up and married, we get a lot of pleasure going about in this modest way, to the movies, a concert, and sometimes a hockey game.

● "But until last winter, however, I was inclined to dread the rushing home, bolting my supper, and then trying to beat all the red lights driving back to Boston before eight o'clock. Literally I was worn out before my fun began.

● "So we discovered a cure for my troubles... I don't go home at all now, and the 'Mrs.' meets me at the Waldorf cafeteria nearest to where our evening's entertainment is to be. We certainly have got the Waldorf habit, and not only does it work better all around, but she takes particular delight in ordering her first course, and then going over your long counters where the desserts are displayed, and choosing something that appeals to her fancy at the moment."

● And I think if you were to drop into any Waldorf cafeteria of an evening you would find hundreds of couples doing the same thing. They find it saves time, annoyance, and expense. Why even the parking lot charge you save oftentimes more than pays for one supper!

● "Meet me at the Waldorf" has become pretty general. And the wives surely do look forward to those "suppers out," away from the treadmill of the kitchen.

RADIO OPERATOR HERO OF SAN GIL SINKING

LEWES, Del., Feb. 5—After a murderous torpedo attack an Axis submarine pumped at least 15 shells into the sinking United Fruit freighter San Gil, it was revealed here today by her master, Capt. Walter W. Koch.

Capt. Koch, a lieutenant-commander in the Naval Reserve and a veteran of the first World War, was strong in denouncing the attack, after landing here of 39 members of the crew and a passenger,
 four of them injured.

Especially bitter was he over the shelling which sent the freighter to the bottom with two of the crew, trapped and killed when a torpedo burst through the port side, into the engine room.

In telling of the sinking of the San Gil, the 15th vessel lost off the Atlantic coast, Capt. Koch said:

"All I can say for the submarine commander is that he didn't sink the two lifeboats which we got off safely although his big submarine prowled around us for 15 minutes before it finally headed southwest at full speed.

"It happened just 10 minutes before midnight last night. We were plowing along making pretty good time. Suddenly there was an explosion and the old San Gil listed.

"She had been struck by a torpedo on the port side.

"I went below to see how much damage we had. The engine room was filled with oil and debris. Beaumont Barbe and Secondino Castro were dead, probably killed by the concussion.

"Back on deck I found Robert Thorp, our radio operator already rigging up an emergency antenna. The first torpedo shock had shattered the regular antenna but 'Sparks' did a good job and he got off a couple of distress signals before the next attack.

"Well, we sat tight and waited and pretty soon came some tracer shells. The sub got the range right away and the real thing began coming over—three and five-inch shells from two guns.

"They fired 15 altogether and I guess 11 of them got us.

"There was no question we were going to be sunk, so I got two lifeboats off with 40 of us aboard.

"Within 25 minutes after the first torpedo, the sub gave us another—she had been circling the San Gil and this one came on the starboard side.

"The old San Gil sort of rose up in the water and then she plunged back and down—down.

"Finally they turned southwest and the last we saw of them they were speeding away, still on the surface."

2 Hub Men Aboard Torpedoed Freighter

Two Greater Boston men, the chief engineer and a passenger, were aboard the torpedoed United Fruit freighter San Gil, it was disclosed with their safe arrival on a rescue cutter at Philadelphia.

One of them, Chief Engineer
 Steen of Davis ave., Brookline, experienced his second torpedo-ing without suffering a scratch. He was submerged during the last World War.

Steen is 49
 and has seen 20 years of service on the San Gil.
 His wife, Dylla, had left Monday for Philadelphia, where the ship was scheduled to dock and did not know of the sinking until the rescued were brought into that port.

With the sinking, Mrs. Bernard
 Condon of Birch st., Roslindale, learned that her son, Stuart
 Winslow Condon, 26, a passenger on board.

Council Weighs Woodward Case

The executive council, at its reg-day, discussed informally Gov. Saltonstall's recommendation that Raymond L. Woodward, Jr., 16-year-old Reading slayer, be committed to State Prison for life.

No action was taken, but it is expected the council will accept the Governor's recommendation at next week's meeting. Woodward, who pleaded guilty to the atrocious murder of 15-year-old Constance

Singapore Holds Fate Of Hitler's War Plan

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Japanese bombs are pouring on Singapore with increasing intensity; the Mikado's heavy siege-guns are hurling destruction onto the island from concealment on the mainland; and down the jungle-bordered highways of the Peninsula swing long lines of troops, bent on invading the stronghold.

The barbarians of the Rising Sun are swarming to the shore of the narrow water-way which is all that lies between them and this great prize. The attempted invasion appears to be close at hand.

This is one of the crucial moments of the war. Soon we shall know whether this keystone of Allied strength in the Orient—one of the most powerful defenses ever created—can withstand the forces Nippon has loosed against it. The outcome of this historic struggle may determine the course, for the immediate future, not only of the battle of the Pacific but of the whole world conflict. That's how important Singapore is.

HITLER'S POWER AT STAKE

Far to the west the master-mind of aggression is watching intently. And in his mind's eye he sees not the tropical isle of Singapore, but another far greater island which lies just across the English channel from his own army of invasion which so long has been waiting for a chance to strike. If the Japs can take Singapore, that will give Hitler increased hope that he can achieve his greatest dream—dictation of terms to the British in their own capital.

The outcome of the unequal struggle at Singapore must depend on whether Britain and America can get sufficient reinforcements there in time to save the day.

BLUE WATER TO RUN RED

The actual invasion attempt is bound to produce terrific fighting. Presumably the Japs will employ parachute troops and also may be expected to try to transport troops across the strait. If that happens we shall have miniature preview of Hitler's projected invasion of the British Isles, perhaps lacking the big naval display.

The Japs will have to make the passage under a hail of fire of all calibers. The Allies will even be using artillery at point-blank range. Unless the defense unexpectedly collapses, the waters of Johore strait are going to run red—and after that will come the hand-to-hand fighting—if the invaders get that far.

DEFENSE RULES LIFE IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, Feb. 5 (AP)—With reopening of the stock market, schools and the territorial courts, Hawaii returned to a semblance of normalcy today, but war and defense remained the uppermost considerations.

Residents may stay out until 8 p. m. However, they must not show any lights, not even the glow of cigarettes. Previously, 6 p. m. was curfew time.

Gas masks are carried by virtually every man and woman; flower plots and vacant tracts are being converted rapidly into vegetable gardens; the building of bomb shelters continues apace, and night-time blackouts remain the unalterable rule.

Plans for evacuation of all women and children from an 18-square-mile danger area along Honolulu's water front in case of an attempted enemy landing were outlined by Lieut.-Gen. Dec. C. Emmons, military governor of Hawaii.

All families were asked to provide themselves with a kit containing a four-day supply of non-perishable foodstuffs, blankets, gas masks, can openers and other essentials. Women and children must be prepared to leave for the hills within an hour of receiving notice. Private automobiles will be supplied.

Men were ordered to stay at home in event the emergency arose, to fight fires.

The reopened schools did not include those sponsored by the Japanese education association. A growing labor shortage plagued sugar cane and pineapple plantations. There was no actual food shortage on the islands, but in some areas the choice was limited.

Today's U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The text of the War Department communique, No. 92 of the war, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., eastern standard time, today:

"1—PHILIPPINE THEATER: There was a lull in the battle of Batan during the past 24 hours. Combat was limited to relatively minor patrol actions, which lacked the savage character of the fighting which has been almost continuous during the past two weeks. The Japanese troops confronting our right sector are under the command of Lieut.-Gen. Akira Nara, and those facing our left are under Lieut.-Gen. Naoki Kimura. There was no marked activity in either sector.

"2—NETHERLANDS INDIES: Over Java a small formation of American Army B-24 fighting planes, encountered a greatly superior force of Japanese bombers, escorted by pursuit aircraft. In the ensuing combat one enemy bomber and one enemy pursuit plane were shot down. One of our planes is missing.

"3—There is nothing to report from other areas."

RISING SUN, Ind., Feb. 5 (AP)—Residents of this Ohio river town of 1500, their mayor says, don't see why they should change the name just because it happens to describe the emblem on the Japanese flag.

Mayor Albert B. Taylor said that for the most part they were cold to suggestions, frequent since Dec. 3, that a new name be chosen.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early made known the newest series of pamphlet raids today, and disclosed that the leaflet bombardment was particularly intense on the Brittany peninsula.

The same ports and towns were the first to see the doughboys a quarter of a century ago, and that maritime section of France would be one of the first likely theaters of action whenever the United Nations are ready to open a major invasion campaign to regain the continent.

Early, who reported that a total of 1,417,500 pamphlets had been dropped in the latest raids, said he had been told that operations to date constituted "the biggest pamphlet bombing job ever done." More than 2,000,000 leaflets were dropped in the initial raids a month ago.

guns had been thundering across the mile-wide Johore strait since 6 p. m. yesterday, Singapore time. A Tokyo broadcast said the siege guns were pouring a steady stream of fire into the British forces and their positions in a grove of rubber trees near the head of the breached causeway leading from the Malayan mainland.

Flames burst in the greenery as the Japanese shells found their mark, the broadcast declared, "indicating that another enemy oil tank had been sent up in flames. As evening deepened the thunder of guns grew in intensity."

Large movements of Japs through Johore state toward the shore facing Singapore island were reported by British reconnaissance planes.

PEOPLE DIVE-BOMBED
Enemy troops have been massing in the area of Johore Bahru since the British imperials finally withdrew to their island stronghold Friday night and Saturday.

Japanese planes kept up their raids on Singapore, making high-level and low-dive bombing and machine-gun attacks on the island. The sirens warning Singapore residents of the approach of Japanese planes sounded before dawn and just as day broke the British guns began booming in deep echos.

An oil tanker at the naval base, which was hit on fire two days ago by Japanese bombing, is still burning.

Last night the inhabitants of the city heard a straight-from-the-shoulder broadcast by the ranking air raid precautions warden.

The warden bluntly asserted: "It is no use telling the people that Malia has had a thousand raids and they have attack it, or that Changking has had worse than we've had. These places have ideal shelters and we have nothing except drains and odd slit trenches."

Italian Subs Sunk in Battle Of Atlantic

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Admiralty asserted today that several Italian submarines had "paid the ultimate penalty" after having been sent to help the German submarine campaign in the Atlantic.

One of these the Admiralty said, was the Ferraris, an 850-ton craft armed with eight torpedo tubes, two 3.9-inch guns, which was sunk late in 1941 after having been damaged by a United States-built Catalina flying boat.

The Admiralty said the Ferraris had had a "eventful but unsuccessful" history. She was one of four Italian submarines which escaped from Massana, Eritrea, on the Red sea, when Italy lost her East African empire and which made a 14,000-mile voyage back to Europe without incident.

Such a cruise was "made possible by meeting with a German supply ship which was sailing under the Stars and Stripes." (This marked the first definite indication that Italian submarines had been operating in the Atlantic. In the past, submarines in this ocean had always been referred to as "Axis submarines," and assumed to be German.)

AXIS SMASH NOW 50 MILES FROM TOBRUK

CAIRO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Advance units of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army today were believed to have carried their advance to within 50 miles of Tobruk in a continuing Axis counter-offensive that has covered 180 miles eastward since the capture of Bengali.

This was the general interpretation of an RAF communiqué reporting that British bombers had been active both east and west of Timi. The town itself, at the eastern base of the Cirenaican bulge, is 60 miles west of Tobruk and 140 miles from the Libyan-Egyptian border.

The British army command said only that its patrols and mobile columns were active "along the whole of our front yesterday" but gave no details of the fighting in Libya against the Axis offensive.

The British added that the RAF carried out continuous fighter sweeps over British forward troops while RAF bombers successfully engaged a number of enemy columns and destroyed numerous vehicles.

(The Italian high command announced today the Axis forces had swept east of Derna, which is 115 miles west of the Libyan-Egyptian frontier.)

Japs' Reckless War Seen Nearing Limit

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

There is some question in the minds of observers as to whether the Allied naval forces in the Pacific now available are being employed with sufficient enterprise and disregard of risk in view of the crucial nature of a situation in which the Japanese are seizing outpost after outpost. Difficulties of this sort will continue to arise in all wars, or coalition of wars, as they have in the past.

They are not to be wholly solved by the appointment of local inter-allied commanders-in-chief, as has been done in the southwestern Pacific, though this helps. These difficulties and criticisms can be met in the end by the establishment of agencies or an agency for exercising the extreme direction of the war. Or to bring policy into harmony with strategy and for allocating forces and material among the various theaters of operation.

Call this a Supreme War Council or Inter-Allied General Staff, or what you will, it must exist and must have the confidence of all concerned, peoples and governments alike.

SINGAPORE HOT SPOT

In the Far East the most notable occurrence is the British retirement from the Malaya peninsula and Singapore. While this was unfortunate from the Allied viewpoint it was well carried out as a military operation.

The Singapore situation is in some respects not too grave. They are defending a well fortified position in which they cannot be outfought except by landing forces.

But against this they have little scope for air defense with no depth in front of their positions to enable warning to be given against enemy planes and only three major air bases available to themselves.

Singapore's lines of sea communications are still open but can be interrupted if not cut by enterprising use of Japanese aircraft and naval craft in the Dutch Islands which surround Singapore to the south and southeast.

Hardly less important than Singapore itself are the two main island bastions of the so-called Malay barrier, which divides the China Sea from the Indian Ocean, the Dutch Islands of Sumatra and Java.

Here the Dutch have concentrated the greater part of their fighting power. Sumatra has not yet been attacked save by sporadic raids.

At Java, however, the Japanese struck heavily last week with a full dress air attack on the Dutch airbase at Soerabaja.

There are at least 60,000 well armed troops on Java with an excellent rail and road network for concentration wherever needed. The nearest Japanese air bases on Borneo are 500 miles away.

HUNT JAP CARRIERS

As for carrier supported operation there is a hint in the Dutch dispatches that the carriers that supported the raid on Soerabaja are being hunted by Allied planes. The affair at Ambina may easily however turn out to be a serious setback for the Allies. If this important Dutch airbase guarding the lower end of the Malacca Passage is taken by the Japanese all Allied traffic between Port Darwin on one hand and Soerabaja and Singapore on the other will be gravely imperilled.

Russ President Sees Victory

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Michael Kalinin in a message to the Soviet people today proclaimed today "the hour is near when all the occupied republics (of Russia) will return to the family of the Soviet Union."

Kalinin said that the Red army had learned much while it was being pushed back by the German offensive, and had made preparations for its own counterthrust while it was withdrawing.

"The Germans never will recapture from the Red army the initiative which now has been gained," he declared.

in the river, just outside the action area.

Several of the nearly 100 employees at the warehouse said the fire started at the end of the First National Stores section nearest the fire wall, which is 12 feet thick.

There were 10 large trailer trucks of the First National grocery stores backed up to the loading platforms when the fire started. These, as well as private cars owned by the employees, were hastily moved out of the area.

COATS LEFT TO BURN

In their rush to remove the autos, however, the employees left outer clothing and their lunches in the burning warehouse.

The warehouse at Pier 45 is more than 1200 feet in length and 200 feet wide. A car float tied alongside the warehouse caught fire early in the battle and its upper structure was destroyed.

At Pier 46 are stored wool and other national defense items, with a large steamer tied up and loading materials. The crew got up steam on this craft and stood by to let go the lines should the flames spread.

SIX MEN DISCOVER FIRE

The warehouse formerly was used by the Merchant & Miners Transportation Co. and at one time was a storage place for nitrate. Nitrate had long been ingrained in the wooden floor and much of it had sifted to the ground, thus giving the flames a hot impetus.

On Sept. 8 the warehouse was leased by the First National Stores. Six workmen in a locker room discovered the fire, and one, Edward Coughlin, said it appeared to start with a flash and a puff of smoke.

With Coughlin were Frank De Caro, Cornelius Quinn, Thomas Driscoll, Edward Barter and Edward Dowd.

They set to work to fight the fire, but within minutes it was evident the flames were spreading too rapidly. As the other five fled they heard De Caro cry out that he was lost in the smoke.

The five formed a human chain and groped in the swirling smoke until they found the lost worker. Then the six men made their way to the outside, where Dowd nearly collapsed.

GUERRILLAS THROW NAZIS INTO PANIC

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—Soviet guerrilla detachments today were reported to be creating wholesale panic behind the German lines as the Nazi armies sought to throw up fortifications and attempted counter-attacks in many sectors of the front.

Dispatches told of wide-ranging Soviet raids damaging railway lines essential to Nazi efforts to bring up reserves. On one sector of the southwestern front guerrilla bands were said to be marching 35 miles nightly in a systematic plan of destruction of German communications.

On the main battlefield, meanwhile, today's Soviet communique announced recapture of five localities in the Kalinin area, with 5300 of the defending Germans slain or wounded, and the seizure of six other populated places on the central front.

In this zone the Red army apparently was pushing westward on the road to Smolensk in the teeth of snow and ice and bitter Nazi resistance.

Operations of the guerrilla bands were seen as ample compensation for the time devoted to training these troops among whom are some of the toughest veterans in the Russian command, sharpshooting marksmen, daring boys of 18 and 17 and even women.

Equipped with automatic rifles and pockets bulging with grenades, they are armed heavily enough to enable them to execute such damaging blows as one raid in which they wrecked a train, disabling five locomotives and ditching hundreds of cars.

This wonderful antiseptic kills millions of germs on throat surfaces... the very types that many authorities say are responsible for the cold misery you know all too well. At the same time it often relieves irritation of sore throats due to colds. Remember, in tests made over a ten-year period, regular twice-a-day users of Listerine Antiseptic had fewer colds, milder colds and colds of shorter duration than non-users. So, at the first sign of trouble, use Listerine Antiseptic and consult your doctor.

There are members of the A. Z. A., youth organization of the East Brith. With 500 other boys and girls they will start on Sunday, Feb. 19, the first of a series of Round Robin collection drives to get books and magazines for the USO. In a house to house canvass they will cover Dorchester, Mattapan and Roxbury.

Donors in this campaign should have their material ready to save the time and efforts of the young defense workers. Twelve organizations will participate in the drive.

Below are some of the enthusiastic letters received today from new members of the rapidly-growing Junior Victory Army.

From Russell Connor, 13 Belton st., Arlington:

"The Junior Victory Army is just the sort of thing us kids have been waiting to get our teeth into. We aren't able to get out there and fight like our brothers and dads but we don't want to let age stop us.

"Sure we save paper and aluminum and other things that help but that's expected of us when our country is at war. We want to do something extra special and now it looks like we'll get a chance by enlisting in the Junior Victory Army."

"WANT TO FIT IN"

From Anna J. Dunn, 11 Locust st., Gloucester:

"I for one think it is a splendid and patriotic idea to form the Junior Victory Army. Please enroll me as a member. I would like the insignia of the club and will consider it an honor to wear. I enclose my enrollment blank and the dime to cover the cost of the pin."

From C. Robert Wheeler, Barre, Vt.:

"I am enrolling in the Junior Victory Army. I also belong to the Boy Scouts. I want to do everything within my power to help win the war and preserve such a grand land as ours."

From H. Goodman, Brighton: "I am too young to be a soldier sailor or marine, but not too young to help my country in another way. Some boys can make games; some sell bonds and stamps, but if it is possible I'd like to be put to work on watching for hostile planes. I know 130,000,000 people are fighting a war to save liberty. I don't want to be an innocent bystander. I want to pitch in and do my part. That's why I've enlisted in the Junior Victory Army."

"SWELL ORGANIZATION"

From Robert Charpentier, 173 Third st., Auburn, Me.:

"I think the Junior Victory Army is a swell organization. I'm a Boy Scout and am in training. Not so long ago I was called out for blackout and messenger work. I guess I'm doing my part and all boys and girls are doing theirs. I hope this new organization is successful."

From Gloria Munroe, 1912 Post rd., Hillsboro, R. I.:

British Praise 1st U. S. Ship

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The captain of the 7000-ton steamship Ocean Vanguard, first vessel of her kind built for Britain in the United States, was quoted as saying he found the new ship fast enough to keep up with any convoy. The ship arrived yesterday at a British port after a stormy Atlantic crossing with a cargo of aircraft, canned goods, hides and meat. The British radio said the ship was "the forerunner of a great fleet," and that she withstood the terrific waves of the Atlantic "very well indeed."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which keep your blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

German Catholics' Loyalty Betrayed

By FRAU ELISABETH MEYER

One of the most tragically ironic phases of the persecution of the Catholics in Germany is that at the outbreak of the war all Catholic groups and organizations offered their services and their facilities in whole-hearted patriotism to the government.

Catholic nuns in nursing orders volunteered as Army nurses. Convents and cloisters were offered as hospitals for returned wounded soldiers and sailors. Catholic schools and colleges eagerly sought to co-operate in the military crisis by suggesting the use of their buildings as training barracks.

Many ecclesiastical institutions were willingly put at the disposal of the Army, or put into service as shelters for the expatriated, regardless of religious faith, or as lodges for the housing of children.

Yet Adolf Hitler's merciless war upon religion continued with unabated fury.

First to feel the wrath of the Fuehrer were the Catholics of Poland.

COMPLETE DESTRUCTION

In Poland today, and particularly in the Warthegau, that section of Poland which the Fuehrer has proclaimed as an integral part of the Third Reich, complete destruction of the spiritual, political and economic influence of the Catholic Church has been ordered.

Poles are forbidden to enter churches and priests are forbidden to officiate. These orders are enforced at gunpoint by Gestapo guards posted at the entrances of the churches.

According to an official Polish report, the famed and historic Church of St. John has been converted into a stable. The Church of the Resurrection has been transformed into a clothing warehouse for the Bekleidungsamt—the clothing bureau.

CHURCH A STORAGE DEPOT

In the little village of Gorczyhia, near Poznan, the church is now a storage depot for furniture confiscated from deported Poles.

In the district of Mogilna, all priests have been ordered to forced labor on German farms. A 60-year-old priest, a spiritual leader in his community for Christians and Jews alike, has been made to work as a shepherd.

All convents in the Warthegau, as well as those in the Government General—the area of Poland which the Nazis have restricted for the Poles—have been closed and their properties confiscated. Nuns from these convents have been interned in a special concentration camp near Poznan.

Poland, of course, since its occupation has borne the brunt of the Fuehrer's implacable wrath. But within Germany conditions such as these are duplicated.

BISHOPS' FILE PROTEST

Only last month the Catholic bishops of Germany issued a joint pastoral letter, confirming the outrages against the church and protesting with vigor and courage. I quote from this letter for the enlightenment of American Catholics who may well be unaware of the martyrdom of their fellow-Catholics in my own unhappy fatherland. The letter states:

"Beloved Faithful: It is an undeniable fact that, whether it has been brought about through the necessity of war or not, there exists at present a far-reaching limitation upon the exercise of our holy religion.

"You no longer have your parish weeklies nor your diocesan papers which hitherto have served to expound the faith and to strengthen moral life in the family circle. More than ever it is now the duty of parents to interest themselves in the books that fall into the hands of their children, and to see to it that at least a few good books are on hand as a family library, and are read in common."

BOOKS DESTROYED

There is pathos in this expression—"at least a few good books." For many of the great masterpieces of literature—English, French, Russian, Scandinavian as well as German—have been condemned as "intellectual treachery" and have been publicly burned by the fanatical and barely literate devotees of the Fuehrer's tyranny over the minds of men.

The letter continues:

"A short time ago a book was distributed in hundreds of thousands of copies asserting that today Germans must choose between Christ and the German nation.

"With burning indignation we German Catholics decline to make a choice of that kind. We love our German nation, we serve it even to the giving of our lives if need be, but at the same time we live and die for Jesus Christ, we wish to be united with Him in time and eternity. We are convinced that we are rendering the most precious service to our beloved German nation in preserving for it Christ and His doctrine."

Further protests of famed German churchmen against Hitler's religious persecution will be described in tomorrow's Boston American.

Mother's Heroic Answer Praised

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

ATLANTA, Ga., Wednesday—The meeting last night at the Atlanta Civic Auditorium was big and I hope I succeeded in clarifying some of the things which were in the minds of certain people. One elderly lady was very much worried because she lived in a house which had only one story and visualized incendiary bombs dropping right on her bed.

This morning I had breakfast with the heads of various women's groups and answered a good many more questions. Georgia has a civilian defense setup which varies in certain ways from the Office of Civilian Defense pattern, but since it is all organized for the same end, I think it will be very easy to adjust.

I stopped at the Civilian Defense volunteer office, which is a very active place and running extremely well. I saw our regional director, Mr. Charles H. Murchinson, last evening, and he is taking hold of his new activities with great energy. Miss Judy, who represents the volunteer offices in the whole region, was here this morning and is doing a very good job.

I VISITED my first filter center and saw how the training was going on there. Finally, I returned to the hotel to discover that the planes are not flying through to Chicago, and we have to take a train. I hope I still will be able to see some of the Chicago regional civilian defense people tomorrow morning at breakfast in Chicago.

Many of you will remember the very sad loss of our ferry pilots in the plane crash of the air liner somewhere near Las Vegas. The commanding officers, with a deep appreciation of what the loss of these boys meant, not only to their families, but to their country, wrote and wired to the mothers and the wives.

THE ANSWER which came from one mother has been sent to me.

Since I am not giving her name, I know she will forgive my using it, because of the help it will bring to a great many other people who are suffering as she is.

"Your telegram of sympathy has conveyed to me something of the dignity of my position. To feel that my country is sharing the loss of my son with me is the greatest honor I could ever hope to obtain."

"Surely, I who worship a true God, will not permit the little pagan mothers of Japan to surpass me in courage, service and love of my country. You are great generals and your very greatness makes you feel the need of divine guidance, I am sure. May you be given keen insight and vision and wisdom for your heavy task."

Such faith and courage should help all the rest of us.

She Was Well Brought-Up

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

The other day a friend and I were at the house of a friend who has a daughter about 17 years old. We noticed that this girl rose when an elderly man was introduced to her. We thought that this wasn't necessary or even correct. However, this girl's mother is a very polite woman. Was her daughter correct in rising to acknowledge this introduction?

TWO READERS.

Yes, this girl has apparently been brought up to show this gracious compliment to an elderly man. It was proper for her to rise when he was introduced to her. She showed her courteous mother's wise and thoughtful training.

Beatrice Fairfax

Wife Sure Has Her Troubles

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'VE BEEN MARRIED nine years, have two children and do all my own work, including the laundry. My husband is one of those men who takes things for granted and doesn't ever give me a compliment. He seems to think it's my job to do what I do and that I should be satisfied to have a roof over my head.

He has friends who call up; sometimes when I answer the phone, it's some girl. He answers and talks a while and then says he doesn't know who it is, although I know that's a lie.

He goes out every night, stays till all hours of the morning, and always says he's been out on business. Now, Miss Fairfax, I know his business doesn't take him out to that extent. Later on, I usually find out the truth about his evenings away, and I'm getting tired of it all.

WEARY OF EVERYTHING.

What can anyone tell you, my dear, except to have patience and don't nag. It's terribly hard, I know, but you have children, and they must have a roof over them and food to eat. I know you'll think I'm very unmodern, but if you were to sue your husband what assurance would you have that you'd be able to collect all money to provide for your children? There's always the hope that such a man may come out of his silliness and realize that he's been the victim of a gold-digger.

PAINTINGS as vivid and brilliant as the new spring prints are on view at the Institute of Modern Art on Beacon st. . . . They are called Abstractions, and even though a bit baffling for the average person to understand at first sight, they present a brilliant rainbow of colors guaranteed to drive the blues away . . .

Painters of these abstractions include Mr. and Mrs. George L. K. Morris of Lenox and New York and Albert Eugene Gallatin of New York, all artists of independent means, and all three present for last evening's private view at the Museum . . .

Mr. Gallatin, a museum director in his own right, has such definite ideas about modern painting that he founded his own museum in Gotham, and many of last evening's guests enjoyed chatting with him about pet theories of drawing, painting and exhibiting.

THE MORRISSES were constantly the center of a group of admirers and friends, and when the conversation veered away from art it usually concerned modern houses . . . They are building one in Lenox which will provide an appropriate background for their colorful paintings . . . Mrs. Morris, who paints under the name of Susie Freelinghuysen, is the former Estelle Freelinghuysen of New York . . . Painting is only one of her accomplishments for she has studied singing both in New York and Europe and has appeared as soprano soloist in numerous American concerts . . .

For last evening's festivities she wore a springlike gown or rustling black and white pin checked taffeta with a bolero jacket and white bodice . . . Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Freelinghuysen, the former Elizabeth Lyman Harrower of Boston, wore a black dinner gown with a deep bodice of black sequins and a sable cape with scalloped edges . . .

As pretty as a picture in gold satin with a panned skirt piped in black, a deep black yoke, the bodice and black jet necklace, Mrs. Gardner Cox was one of the interested spectators . . . Mrs. David Sigourney, who designs and paints scenery for some of our biggest balls and bazaars, wore a black satin gown trimmed with sequins, and was no doubt gathering ideas for some of her future handiwork.

BLONDE OLIVE PERRY, who seldom misses an art opening, wore an emerald green dinner gown with long sleeves and patches of gold sequins applied to the bodice . . . Nancy Nye and Ann Davis dispensed punch and watercress sandwiches from a long refectory table covered with jade green tweed and adorned with vases of calla lilies . . . Still others attending were Betty Bartlett wearing yards of pearls as necklace and bracelet with a slim gown of gold lame . . . Prof. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer, the Sargent Colliers (Mrs. Collier in a lovely pale blue and brown paisley print) Miss Aimee Lamb, Mrs. Charles Perkins, who wore a black gown, carried a tiny muff to match her fur coat, and slipped red velvet overshoes over her slippers for the homeward journey; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Potter Daniels of Pasadena, Cal., who were particularly interested in the modern forms of art since they are in California was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, famous modern architect . . . Mrs. Daniels wore a black tuckered net dress and bright blue gloves . . .

JEAN CLARK of Brookline, left, and Hope Halsey of Beacon st., who are giving liberally of their time and effort to help put the United War Fund over the top, are also eagerly anticipating the annual Vincent Club revue, try-outs for which will be held next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. ## Miss Desmond To Wed Soon

A St. Valentine's Day wedding is planned by Miss Katharine Amelia Desmond and Arthur F. Brown of Newton, whose engagement is announced by the prospective bride's mother, Mrs. Mathew A. Desmond of Dorchester.

The ceremony will be performed at 3 p. m. Feb. 14 at St. Mark's Church. Following a honeymoon in Florida the couple will reside in Newton.

Miss Desmond is a graduate of Dorchester High School and Boston Technical School. Mr. Brown, son of Mrs. Joseph Tierney of Roslindale and the late Frederick Brown, is a graduate of Boston University where he majored in business administration. ## 'Round and About With Socialites

Mr. and Mrs. Delano C. Letts have come East from their home in Winnetka, Ill., to see their new grandson, David Draper Dayton 3d, who was born last week at Richardson House to the junior David D. Daytons of Cambridge . . .

Mrs. Sam Bartow (Alma Bird) of Cohasset, is brightening her winter wardrobe with a trick little beanie which we saw her trying on at a millinery counter the other day . . . It's one of those gayly embroidered models with shades of rust, gold and green on a brown background . . .

The daughter born last week-end to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wells of Rock Rapids, Iowa, makes an auntie of Mrs. J. Brooks Fenno, Jr., of Chestnut Hill . . . Mrs. Fenno and Mrs. Wells are sisters being the former M. Virginia Chapman and Caroline Chapman, respectively, of Chicago . . . Deborah Elliott Baker is the name chosen for future debutante born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Baker of Park Drive . . . Since her initials spell “deb,” her parents hope she will live up to it and take an interest in the social swim of 1940 . . .

Listen, World! BLAME YOURSELF FIRST

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A SUCCESSFUL business man once said to me: “I have made it a rule of my life to blame myself first when anything with which I am connected goes wrong.”

“For example,” said he, “take the offended customers with which every firm must deal. It's easy to fix the responsibility for that on some poor clerk, but I waste time and strength if I go on blaming clerks. IT'S MY BUSINESS TO HIRE CLERKS WHO WON'T OFFEND CUSTOMERS AND TO KEEP THEIR CONDUCT UP TO STANDARD. And so it goes along the line. No matter what happens, it's really up to me and I might as well recognize that to begin with.”

BLAME YOURSELF FIRST! That's a good philosophy for any human. And you'll not get very far in life until you adopt it.

BARRING the acts of God, you and you alone are responsible for the things that happen in your life.

You're responsible if your husband is rude to you—
Or your children sass you—
Or the neighbors impose upon you—
Or the trade folk cheat you—
Or the world at large does you dirt.

You may not be able to change the character of husbands, children, neighbors, trade folk or the world at large—
But you can control their attitude towards you—
AND THE SERVICE THEY RENDER YOU.

YOU CAN TIGHTEN up the loose ends in your own character which give people the opportunity to undo you.

The loose ends of laziness, fuzzy thinking, self-pity, cowardice, conceit, sentimentality and peevishness—
These are the things that really undo and betray you—not your fellow man.

Your husband's rudeness, your neighbors' malice, your children's impudence, do not begin in husbands, neighbors or children.

They begin in you—
IN THE WEAK PLACES OF YOUR OWN NATURE.

DON'T WASTE TIME COMPLAINING ABOUT WHAT OTHER PEOPLE DO TO YOU. GET BUSY AND MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO DO SUCH THINGS TO YOU!

BLAME YOURSELF FIRST!
YOU'RE THE RESPONSIBLE PARTY!

OUR DAILY CITATION: To Maynard Hutchinson, general chairman of the Greater Boston United War Fund campaign, for his tireless efforts to push this drive across the top. As the campaign moves down the home-stretch Mr. Hutchinson must spur his volunteer workers to the task of raising more than 2,555,555. Every Greater Boston resident should now rally to this worthy cause.

(Reprinted from the San Francisco Call-Bulletin)

THE SAN FRANCISCO BAY region and other West Coast communities are seriously concerned about the distorted conception of war conditions here, increasingly prevalent elsewhere in the country.

Ever since the outbreak of hostilities, residents of the Pacific Coast in contact with relatives and friends in the East have been busy discounting the wildest sort of rumors and allying baseless fears.

The first disposition here was to be amused, and then to be angered and finally to be distressed.

The great majority of people here have families in the East and Midwest, and the unwarranted distortions and exaggerations of conditions here have tended very definitely to undermine national morale.

It should not be a difficult matter, and it should indeed be a matter of plain duty, to ascertain and tell the exact truth about the effect of the war in this region.

CASUAL OBSERVATION would disclose, and competent analysis would confirm, that a completely normal order of life is being maintained.

Of course there have been blackouts and preparations for civilian defense.

There have even been alarms.

But the people are going about the orderly routine of their daily living, and are performing their usual tasks, and conducting themselves in all respects as Americans SHOULD do in a time of national peril and duty.

THERE ARE RELATIVELY few departures of people to be specifically attributed to the war.

There are absolutely NO evacuations.

Industrial activity is not merely thriving but booming.

Business is keeping pace with the arduous times.

And productive and profitable employment is easily beyond the peak of the national average—which is at its most wholesome level in many years.

This is the true picture in San Francisco, in California and everywhere on the Pacific Coast.

What possible purpose can be served elsewhere in the country by presenting distortions of that picture?

There is surely no malice or vindictiveness behind the false picture which has been presented.

Why should carelessness and irresponsibility be permitted to accomplish injury and wrongs of the same nature actual malice would produce?

HOW MANY OF US know that some 40,000 service men are being entertained nightly at the military training camps, including those in New England, by the finest talents of the stage, the screen, radio and the concert platform?

That in this work two great circuits have been organized, reaching more than 200 cantonments?

That thus, each week, a quarter of a million men in uniform receive a full hour's relaxation and mental stimulus?

All this is the accomplishment of USO-Camp Shows, Inc., an organization that has evolved this most gigantic of war-entertainment services through the professional co-operation of hundreds of performers, musicians and mechanics, comprising the "Red White and Blue" and the "Stars and Stripes" Circuits.

Every union which helps to present the shows has made concessions.

The salaries paid to actors are minimum.

Groups of Hollywood screen stars appear gratis.

Almost every famous "name band" has enrolled to play without pay at free camp shows.

"Camp Shows," it is said, "has probably the largest unpaid payroll in show business."

The performances, usually light and festive, include also "hit" productions from the legitimate theater, while popular concerts are varied with special voluntary appearances of important concert artists.

The purpose of Camp Shows is to promote morale and to keep the boys in uniform happy.

It is the Anglo-Saxon tradition, centuries old, that our troops go into battles singing and come out of wars victorious.

USO-Camp Shows is spirited according to the tradition.

It is a sign in itself that the whole tradition shall again prevail.

A WOMAN who is 15 pounds overweight is less likely to make her husband happy than one who is 15 pounds under weight. So claims the University of Chicago's Prof. Ernest W. Burgess who heads a group making a study of what makes matrimony tick properly or otherwise. According to this group chemical engineers, ministers, college professors and football coaches make the best husbands. Barbers, musicians, travelling salesmen and plumbers make the worst husbands. It is also claimed girls who have worked in offices before marriage make the best wives. But that only in the case the girl has held one job at least seven years.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Oakland, Cal., subscriber says he has found his safety razor blades do a much better job in a warm climate than in a cold. In the February number of Good Housekeeping there is an interesting article on gray hair and the possibilities of eliminating it.

ASKING: Q—What do you think of the Harvard students referring to one of your favorite actresses, Jeanette MacDonald as "the most unattractive film star." A—Seemed an uncalled for and insulting reference. It has been truly said: "No gentleman will insult me. No other can." I am certain that's the way Miss MacDonald views this observation. Jeanette is not only attractive on and off the screen but she is kindly, sympathetic, generous and tolerant. . . . Q—Is there a poem titled "Take Time." A—Only quotation I know that might be so titled is the one which goes in part:

Take time to work. It is the price of success.

Take time to think. It is the source of power.

Take time to play. It is the fountain of wisdom

Take time to love. It is the privilege of the Gods.

Take time to laugh. It is the music of the soul.

Take time to be courteous. It is the mark of a gentleman.

FLAGS: There are more than 20 dates calling for patriotic people to display the United States flag. How many can you name? A New Yorker says for planting a replica of the Star Spangled Banner in his garden he is going to use riding-hood zinnias, carpet of snow alyssum and blue cap eratum. Seemed all right to me that a flag replica should be planted on a lawn or in a garden but the following rule of the United States Flag Ass'n has been pointed out: "Do not use the flag as a portion of a costume or athletic uniform. Do not embroider it on pin cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes." Would seem planting a flag might be judged similar to embroidering it on something.

AMERICA LEARNS PATRIOTISM

La Verne Andrews

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A few days ago I sat in a private projection room in the heart of Broadway and watched the unreeing of a picture called "Joe Smith, American." It will be playing on Broadway soon and I think you will like it. It is the story of a young, married, average, smart American factory worker who is captured by fifth columnists and tortured for the military secrets he knows. It was written by Paul Gallico for Cosmopolitan Magazine many months ago, in the days when not many people believed That Could Happen Here. Now we know it could happen, and perhaps is happening or will happen tomorrow; so the film becomes not only a fine adventure story, but a classic of patriotism of flag-waving and Fourth of July speeches, but the simple thing that is in the life of the fellow next door to you, the man on the subway, the man in the street. It was "Joe Smith, American," that reminded me of what patriotism really is.

YOU LEARN, patriotism first as a reflex, then you learn what it means. You are taught as a child to stand up for the "Star Spangled Banner," to salute when the flag goes by. But in wartime patriotism is much more than an automatic phase of our etiquette; it is a driving force for survival. It pops up everywhere. And it props up everything. Patriotism is the reservoir and resource of victory, a "d no square inch of America can be apart or immune from it. Broadway supplies it. Main Street supplies it. The actor, the farmer . . . the chorus girl, the business man . . . the comedian, the laborer . . . the very young, the very old, conspire to defend what they know to be good against the greatest criminals in history. I suppose you could say that patriotism is America in action. It is the President in the White House with his coat off, and it is the Joe Smiths in millions of little white houses that are no less or no more important than the United States of America itself.

PATRIOTISM is the beautiful chorus girl sitting in her dressing room at the Imperial Theater knitting for a soldier boy. It may not be good knitting, but it's for a soldier boy. Patriotism is a plump old lady in Peoria learning from the Red Cross how to bandage a broken arm. It is the newspaper man getting home at 2 a. m. in time to go out for air raid warning duty. It's the frail little lady in an ermine coat telling a sergeant in a recruiting station, "I'll do anything . . . anything."

IT'S Irving Berlin writing bond songs instead of love songs. It's Lucy Monroe giving up her radio commercial to hitch up with the Treasury Department. Freddie Martin turning over some of his fancy returns from record sales to war charities. It's the Andrews sisters waxing patriotic numbers instead of those that could net them many more $$$ in the juke boxes. It's Joe Louis in uniform and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Lieut. Commander Walter Winchell.

PATRIOTISM is all of us working for all of them and all of them fighting for all of us. It's saving newspapers and tin foil and aluminum; being economical; not hoarding. It is women giving up their spare time for war work, society belles conniving practical ways of raising money for the services, civilians digging deep into their jeans to buy bonds.

YES, and patriotism is a freckle-faced little kid in Minneapolis, who likes nothing better than a chocolate bar, buying a 10-cent savings stamp instead of candy.

THE FACT that patriotism doesn't have to be all painful sacrifice makes it easy for even the lilies and the softies to pitch in, because often it's bound to be fun Broadway, because of its nature, cashes in on the light-hearted side of the war campaign—but there's another kind of fun. There's the fun you get out of doing something for someone else. You don't always get that opportunity in peace time; you can do it to your heart's content now. "Banjo Eyes" has given us a good slogan in its catchy "We Did It Before and We'll Do It Again." Not only will we do it again, but we'll do it better and more decisively. It's in our blood and in the heritage of our land. Only this war will see greater patriotism than ever before because there are more Americans, more to fight for, and more to fight against.

That is all I wanted to say about patriotism, except . . . Oh! yes: Have you bought your defense savings stamps today?

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

PANNED BY THE NEW YORK drama critics, Samson Raphaelson's play about a critic, "Jason," is doing encouraging business and may develop into a hit . . . Raphaelson's playwrighting average, incidentally, is the best of any contemporary playwright, not excepting Eugene O'Neill . . . "The Jazz Singer," "Young Love," "Accent on Youth," "Skylark," and now "Jason," all clicked at the theater turnstiles . . . He may be ready to disclose his secret, as a telegram at hand says he will week-end at the Boston Ritz-Carlton . . . The island on the coast of Maine which was the locale of some of the best scenes in "Skylark" was dramatized from life.

RAFE, AS HIS FRIENDS CALL him, bought a complete isle off Boothbay . . . It was his intention to make the beautiful spot a New England Shangri-la, where the playwright and his friends could repose for fun and work . . . It developed into a large disappointment, and when the author of "The Jazz Singer" was in Boston a few years ago, he gave the island to a Boston newspaperman . . . The scribe organized an expedition of some city friends of his own for an inspection tour of the property . . . A small, but menacing-looking animal darted out of the cellar . . . Although it was later identified as a woodchuck, the animal's presence so discouraged the new owner of the property that he left the keys with the caretaker . . . And Raphaelson's Shangri-la off the rockbound coast of Maine, equipped with boat-house, private pier connecting it with the mainland, a studio, a large dwelling with three fireplaces, has remained unoccupied since . . . There was one catch in acceptance of the gift . . . The island had its own lighting system, and to make it workable $1600 in batteries alone would have been required.

JOHN BOLES' DEBUT AT THE MAYFAIR was an outstanding event of the kind . . . As in the case of the nightclub following attracted locally by Morton Downey, a majority of the patrons were faces habitual ringsiders had not seen before . . . The movie actor is in splendid voice, and obviously is in the pink of condition . . . The ladies were saying that the new fringes of gray around the Boles' temples and ears have heightened his appeal . . . John's new starring picture, "The Road to Happiness" has been of great help to Steve Brody, the erstwhile inhabitant of Boston's film row.

STEVE WENT TO NEW YORK a year ago to rule the distribution department of Monogram Pictures . . . The Boles picture has proved to be what the trade calls "a sleeper" . . . Monogram and Brody are getting first-run bookings in whole theater chains in parts of the country where a Monogram film has never been featured before . . . "Hellzapoppin'" will not play its Boston date for at least three weeks . . . The "original company"—original except for Olsen and Johnson—has stampeded Philadelphia, and a two week booking has been elongated to six.

BETTY FURNESS

NEW YORK HAS FAVORED the Navy Relief Ass'n in its early sports promotions, but the Bruins vs. the Veteran All-Stars at Boston Garden Friday night will see the lads crossing sticks in aid of Army Relief . . . There is a strong, but friendly, rivalry, between the two service organizations, and promoters of sports contests and other affairs of a charitable turn are expected to make their benefactions 50-50 projects in the future.

IF ANY SUCH thing as a "morning favorite" exists in the competition to be staged April 6 by the Boston press cameramen, to choose a "Photogenic Queen," pretty little Madelon Mason, of the South End, would seem to be it . . . Tip (To Whom It May Concern): An order asking the abolition of dog and horse racing for the duration of the war was to have been introduced in the Boston City Council at its last meeting . . . Illness of the councilman who is fathering the measure caused the action to be deferred . . . Betty Furness, who plays the heroic sister of "My Sister Eileen," is being given a friendly rush by Harvard men who went to school with her husband, Composer Johnny Green . . .

BOY WONDER GETS DIRECTOR'S JOB

By Louella O. Parsons

Jeffrey Lynn

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—Boy wonder Norman Krasna, who was kicked out of the Warner publicity department when he submitted a play, "Louder Please," is returning—but not to the publicity department. Norman has a nice fat contract personally signed by Jack Warner which nominates him as writer and director. His first picture is "Princess O'Rourke" and the deal was made by Charles Feldman. The story of Krasna and the Warner P. A. is one of Hollywood's classics. It seems Norman had written the play and mentioned it to Hubert Voight, who was then in charge of the publicity office. Either Voight or someone else became angered and fired

Norman, according to the story. So he took his play to New York and put it on the stage where it was a great success, and the columnists never cease kidding about the kick that landed Krasna fame and fortune.

MILTON HOLMES, tennis pro, today has a check for $30,000 in his pocket and the happy knowledge that his story, "Bundles for Freedom," will be Cary Grant's next for RKO. Holmes went to M-G-M to sell his script. Charlie Lederer loaned him $10 and gave Holmes' story to an M-G-M producer to read. In the meantime, Holmes met Cary, with whom he had played tennis, and said, "I saw you in 'Suspicion' and liked you—for the first time." Cary laughed. Then Holmes said, "I have written a story which would be good for you—a romantic gangster yarn." Cary agreed to read it—and liked it so well that he asked RKO to buy it. Never rains but it pours—for M-G-M studio a day later tried to buy it for Clark Gable.

I, FOR ONE, am glad that William Powell is returning to drama because as good as "The Thin Man" pictures are they are wearing a little thin. Bill used to be one of the most romantic and adventurous gents on the screen before he got in a rut of shaking cocktails and sleuthing. This all leads up to the news that Bill will co-star with Hedy Lamarr in "Cross Roads," a yarn about a French diplomat accused of being an imposter. Hedy Lamarr plays his wife and the picture starts rolling in less than a week with Edwin Knopf producing. We just had Hedy in "Forever," the Mildred Cram story, but a switch in production plans puts "Cross Roads" ahead.

JOHN GARFIELD telephoned to say that his troubles with Warners are over and that he expects to stay with his alma mater for the next three and a half years. "I am very grateful to Jack Warner," he said, "for lending me to M-G-M for 'Tortilla Flat' and the studio has been unusually good to me these last few months." Different tune for Mr. G., who once said that he was leaving for Europe to become a foreign correspondent because he was through with movies. Well, John should be grateful to Warners with the assignment just handed him. He will be co-starred in "The Hard Way" with Ida Lupino, Olivia De Havilland and Jeffrey Lynn. This is the story originally bought for Bette Davis and was intended for her and Ginger Rogers.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Marjorie Woodworth's big moment is Lieut. William Bittner of the U. S. Air Corps. She is the gal whose resemblance to Jean Harlow is so startling; John Hertz, Jr., considered one of the most brilliant young men in the advertising business, is at the moment working hard on "The Jungle Book" for Alex Korda.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Today Arline Gould has news of a special complexion kit that should be of special interest to every girl who's at all active, who plays outdoors and who wants to have at her finger tips the answer to almost any problem that besets a young skin. Virginia Grey poses.

SPECIAL COMPLEXION KIT FOR COLLEGE STUDENT

By ARLINE GOULD

IN THESE DAYS of research specializing, no one's been more "researched" than the college girl.

Not to be outdone, a famous beauty expert, who knows that a college girl's complexion is apt to be of as much concern to her as her exams and certainly of as much importance as prom and winter sports week-end bids, has brought out as a result of analysis and planning a "young complexion box."

This is particularly nice because it thinks of all sorts of eventualities in advance... and it's a wonderfully compact way of having at hand a life-saving cosmetic aid.

In it are cosmetics for emergencies and cosmetics for every day. There are blemish erectors, satinzers, flaw-concealers, make-up foundation, make-up... and the whole thing at an amazingly little price... just two dollars for a supply that should stretch out for anywhere from six to eight weeks.

The whole thing is done up like a red and gold box, which looks like a leather bound book. It is the acme of convenience for packing. In it are "grains" for deep cleansing and eliminating of blemishes, or just plain washing; a "snow lotion" which is a soothing and beautifying foundation capable of concealing little flaws or intruding eruptions; face powder and a lipstick close the deal.

The authority who sponsors the "young complexion box" firmly believes that no skin, young or old, can retain its charm and freshness unless it is washed thoroughly and systematically. So she takes special pride in the "grains" preparation... tiny, clean-smelling granules that dissolve in warm water, forming a rich lather and providing friction required by a skin that has tendency to clogged pores. Sure enough no blackheads can "take this" gentle but efficacious treatment!

To learn about the "young complexion box," phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4606, except the weekend, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed card.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

NOW THAT THE NATION'S sweet tooth is undergoing a little discipline, many a homemaker is working out ways to make her sugar supply go further. One way is to watch sugar waste in the home—undissolved sugar in the bottom of a cup of coffee or tea, oversweetened foods, cake failures, or failures of any product that contains sugar.

Another way of "stretching" the sugar supply and adding variety at the same time is to supplement the weekly white refined sugar with other naturally sweet foods. Available now are honey, cane syrups, molasses, corn syrup, and maple syrup.

Honey as a sweetener for dry or cooked cereals makes a delightful change; in such beverages as tea or coffee it soon becomes a habit; while honey used to sweeten all milk drinks, cocoa, and egg-nogs, gives added flavor and body as well as wholesomeness. As a true sweetening agent, it excels in cake cookies, muffins and quick bread mixtures, to which it gives a delightful flavor, and the quality of keeping moist for long periods.

HONEY BRAN MUFFINS

3 tbsp. shortening
1/2 cup honey
1 egg
1-3 cup buttermilk
1 cup all-bran
1 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda

Blend shortening and honey. Add egg and beat, until creamy. Add buttermilk and all-bran; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift dry ingredients together; add to first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 8 large muffins or 16 small muffins.

HONEY KRISP COOKIES

1-3 cup shortening
1/2 cup honey
2 eggs
1/2 cup sour cream
1 1/2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
1/2 cup chopped dates

1/2 tsp. nutmeg, or
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup crispy rice cereal
Blend shortening and honey. Add well-beaten eggs and cream. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and soda; add to first mixture. Stir in nut meats, dates, flavoring and rice cereal. Drop from a dessert spoon onto lightly greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 2 dozen cookies (4 inches in diameter).

HONEY TEA CAKES

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 cup strained honey
1 tsp. lemon extract
1 cup sour heavy cream
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat eggs until frothy and gradually beat in honey; add flavoring. Add flour mixture alternately with sour cream, beating until smooth after each addition. Turn into greased, small muffin pans and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Spread with lemon icing if desired. These cakes have a decided honey flavor. Makes 20 small cupcakes.

LEMON ICING

1 egg white
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 cup powdered sugar (about)
Beat egg white until frothy, then sprinkle with lemon juice and gradually beat in sugar until stiff enough to spread. Makes icing for top of 8-inch cake, or 20 cupcakes.

HEARTS AND FLOWERS are high style in February... and here's the latest fashion in Valentines! Romance is a fashion priority on St. Valentine's Day... and a really individual way of asking that question immemorial is to send this ensemble of flowers for the coiffure and the shoulder. The head-dress and heart-pierced corsage may be wired anywhere in the country. Anemones and mimosa carry out the favorite theme of delicate shades. The formal evening frock of chiffon over taffeta that the model wears carries out the trend toward beguiling femininity, first in the spring fashion picture. —ANNICE BRINK.

HAND-KNITTED JACKETS, DRESSES FOR WAR-TIME

By BETTINA BEDWELL

HAND-KNITTED jackets and dresses, hand-knitted suits, are peacetime styles that are going very big in these first months of the war. Warm and practical, they have an elegance that makes them dear to the hearts of women.

They go well, too, with the hand-knit sweaters of soldiers.

A very handsome hand-knit ensemble is the one Miss Dulin has sketched.

The jacket is knitted of plaid wool yarn in red, blue and pale sandy beige. It buttons up the front on red buttons.

The dress in jersey knit beige wool is very simple, with pleats at the front of the skirt from the hipline and a draped neckline.

The belt of the dress is made of red suede.

THERE'S THRILLING EXTRA RICHNESS IN EVERY CUP OF MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE!

Discover the gloriously satisfying goodness of extra-flavor coffees—Bucaramangas

...Manizales... Central Americans—blended as only Maxwell House knows how!

• Far up in the Sierras and the towering Andes, luxurious volcanic soil, tropical rains, and sparkling mountain sunshine combine to produce coffees of marvelous, flavorful perfection : : :

The famous Bucaramanga group—Hondas : : : Libanos : : : Girardois—renowned for full body. The rich-flavored Medellinas; The mellow Manizales. The vigorous Central and South American beans;

So ask your grocer for Maxwell House—a superb blend you can always count on for real coffee enjoyment.

Naturally, all coffee roasters—including ourselves—would like to put up a single "all-purpose" grind. But clever women know different coffee-making methods call for different grinds.

Therefore, Maxwell House offers 3 accurately correct grinds. Each is ground uniformly by precision grinders. This eliminates crushing, unevenness and waiting involved in store grinding. Not only do you get better coffee by using the right Maxwell House grind for your coffee-making method, but you may also save money. Just compare the directions on the tins... Drip and Glass-Maker grinds give you the same richness with substantially less coffee than if you used Regular grind for these methods.

Delay Lombard Film Release

Gradwell L. Sars, vice-president of United Artists in charge of distribution, has announced that the last film starring Carole Lombard, "To Be or Not To Be," will not be released immediately.

He stated that this decision has been made despite an overwhelming demand by exhibitors throughout the country and motion picture audiences everywhere for an early presentation of the picture in which his Lombard was starred with Jit Benny.

Mr. Sars stated that in deference to the late star, an unspecified period of time will be allowed to elapse before the Ernst Lubitsch production will be shown.

26 CANADIANS, AUSSIES IN WAR CABINET

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today he would give it a statement soon on the duties of his minister of war production, Lord Beaverbrook, named yesterday to that cabinet post.

Churchill said arrangements for the Dominions to be represented in the British War Cabinet would not bring any change in the United Kingdom membership therein.

Of the Beaverbrook appointment, intended to get up a British counterpart of Donald M. Nelson's control of United States war production, Churchill said minor details concerning the new minister's relations with other departments remained to be clarified.

He said Sir Earle Page, Australian representative in London, for several months past actually has been exercising the rights Australia wanted in asking for a voice in war policy.

Wife Learns Much In Captive Hubby's Radio from Tokyo

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5 (INS)—Lieut. Comdr. S. A. Newman's reassuring message carried by the Tokyo radio conveyed more information to his Pittsburgh wife than his Japanese captors intended it seemed today.

He reported that he felt as well and weighed as much as he did in 1931, when he returned from Europe to be wed. He only weighed 145 then, compared with the 185 he scaled when he was called to arrive duty last summer, his wife said. Newman had been stationed at Guam.

Canadian, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa were informed the same facilities would be available to them if they wished.

Here's Tops in Regimentation

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Free Dutch newspaper Vrij Nederland today offered the following as fresh evidence of "the regimentation of the German mentality":

A seaman aboard the Dutch submarine which sank the German U-35 was amazed to see the U-boat commander and 12 other survivors swim away from their craft "in perfect formation."

None uttered a sound, the Dutch seaman said, until the commander gave the order.

Then, all together, they cried for help.

You can dig up the ground with a sharp stick or you can dig it with a plow. Farmers can grow many more crops with a plow than with a sharp stick. Therefore, the plow does its job more cheaply.

It is used for sending messages

A newspaper advertisement reaches many more people than a post card and therefore it does its job more cheaply.

This is a family

—all of them want to buy things

This is a manufacturer

—he makes things the family wants to buy

To let the family know what things he is making and where they can buy them, he must send messages to the family. In newspaper advertisements he can show the family what he makes, quote its price, tell where to buy it.

Because newspaper advertising reaches many families cheaply, it enables the manufacturer to sell many things; therefore, the cost of each of these things is reduced to each of these families.

Two of the biggest laughs of the World War No. 1 are still good 25 years later.

I wrote them for Lew Dockstader, the greatest of all monologists. The first concerned priorities and rationing such as we are experiencing now:

"The way to stop this war is to put William Jennings Bryan in command. Nothing Bill ever had charge of lasted very long."

Baseball to Lose Married Stars

BASEBALL WILL receive its hardest blow under the Selective Service Act if the plan of General Hershey to take married men into the army goes through. This move would eliminate from the big leagues all players other than those with physical defects or those who are under 20 years of age.

In America's all-out war effort, General Hershey believes the government should make financial provisions for the wives and children of persons between the ages of 20 and 45 who are needed in the military service.

Despite the loss of Hank Greenberg, Bob Feller, Hugh Mulcahy and other big league stars, baseball has still managed to retain more than 95 per cent of its major league playing strength. This is due to the fact most ball players are married and in many cases they have children.

If the proposed plan goes through, those players who are married but who have not any children will be the first to be mustered into service. The government will make a special allowance of $15 a month for wives and will insist that married soldiers allocate $15 a month of their money for their wives. The government will pay $7 a month for each child in addition to the $15 that goes to his wife.

It has been found, says Gen. Hershey, that dependency is the chief cause of military deferment. In addition to those players who have secured deferment due to the fact they are married there are the cases of players who have been granted deferment because they have a dependent mother or father.

Ted Williams of the Red Sox was given deferment a year ago on account of his mother. Ted has been in Class 1A of the draft. At the present time Williams' case is under discussion due to an appeal taken by an agent of the draft board who wants to find out if the home run hitter's mother would be left without support if he were to enter the army.

Under the plan proposed by Gen. Hershey, Williams' mother would receive $15 a month from the government and $15 from Ted's pay, and the youthful slugger would exchange his baseball bat for a rifle.

All Out War

It is almost two months since Pearl Harbor and Uncle Sam has decided on an all out war effort. I have talked recently with important people in Washington, and they tell me that everyone will be asked to make the maximum effort. There will not be any delay.

The closing down of the huge automobile business, the second largest in the United States, was proof of the sincerity of the government to go all out for war.

It will be the same with everything else, according to my informants in Washington. It is not the intention of the government to go along slowly until 1943 when this country should have the greatest war machine in the world. It is felt that every blow struck this year may be more important than a dozen blows struck in 1943.

This is why Gen. Douglas Mac-

Arthur is making his great fight in the Philippines. He will continue to do so as long as possible knowing that by so doing he is keeping enemy troops and ships from engaging in other theaters of war, and that he is also inflicting great losses in man power and equipment on the Japs. Meanwhile Gen. MacArthur is gaining precious time for the Allies while men, ships, planes, guns and other equipment are being rushed to the Far East.

Athletes Must Help

President Roosevelt is anxious that baseball continue, but he made it clear in his letter to Judge Landis that all ballplayers physically fit should take their places in service.

I believe that if Gen. Hershey's plan for taking married men is adopted that the younger groups will be called first. This will enable players beyond 30 years of age to at least finish out the coming season.

While this will be a hardship to baseball it will help it over a period of time, according to Army leaders. The quicker the war is over, they contend, the sooner sports, business and everything else will get back to normal.

Boxing, professional football and the other professional sports will also lose many of their stars under the new order of things.

This condition will result in a growth of service sports. Most of the champions will end up in the various branches of the services. This explains some of the enlistments of the older athletic coaches. They realize that in the fast changing conditions caused by the war that there will soon be few top athletes outside of military service.

They also wish to be located in military berths themselves before the conditions of the selective military act are made more severe.

Attention is called to the fact that Australia is now using men up to the age of 65 in home defense. In an all out war, all must serve. All sports and businesses become rather unimportant in the big effort which is to win the war as decisively and as quickly as possible.

SHORE HEADS 17 STARS IN GARDEN ICE CLASSIC

Hockey's stars of yesteryear rocket back into full view tomorrow at the Garden when the All-Stars skate against the Bruins in the highlight of Army Relief Fund night. A colorful program of band music, figure skating, the two-period game between the Stars and B's, and a full fledged Eastern League game between the Olympics and Johnstown has assured a near capacity house.

Tickets were still on sale today as final preparations were made for the big game, and as all 17 stars started to Boston from Montreal, Toronto, New York, Pittsburgh, Springfield, Providence, Washington and Indianapolis.

Auker to Leave Hospital Soon

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP)—Elden Auker, St. Louis Browns pitcher who was injured in a traffic accident Tuesday, was described in "excellent condition" today at Henry Ford Hospital.

Dr. Leslie Mitchell, Auker's physician, declared that the veteran hurler "will be up and around in a few days." X-rays disclosed no fractures of the skull or chest.

The former Tiger pitcher suffered head and chest injuries in a three-car collision. He was a passenger in one automobile.

Auker, who has been working for the Midwest Abrasive Company of Detroit, said recently he did not intend to return to baseball next summer.

Herbert's Entry in B. A. A. 600 Speaks Well for New Record

Jimmy Herbert, running as well as ever, judging by his victory in the Metropolitan 600 last week, has accepted an invitation to compete in the Hollis 600, one of the feature events at the 53d annual B. A. A. meet which will be held at the Garden one week from Saturday.

Herbert last winter won the 1941 national indoor 600 title in 1:12. He held the Garden 600 mark of 1:123 until Charlie Beetham lowered it to 1:12 last February. With Beetham already having announced his entry for next week's 600, even this great mark is in danger.

To enhance chances of a new record, Meet Manager Tom Kanaly will restrict the field to five, possibly four, starters.

The pole vault, always one of the most popular B. A. A. attractions, was given a leg up today when it was learned that World Champion Cornelius Warmerdam would appear here against Indoor Champion Earl Meadows.

Warmerdam is the most consistent vaulter in history. Since April 12, 1940, the former Stanford star has cleared 15 feet or better on 13 different occasions.

Castleman Willing To Smoke Peace Pipe

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 5 (AP)—If Clydell Castleman can compose his differences with Bill Terry, he may be fogging 'em over again this summer for the New York Giants.

He has asked Giant Manager Mel Ott, an old pal of other days, for another chance in the big leagues and has received a 1942 contract from the club.

Castleman, who won 15 games and dropped six for the Giants in 1935 in his first full year in the majors, always seemed to be at loggerheads with Terry during his brief tenure with Charles Stoneham's club.

IDLE LAST YEAR

He remained idle all last year rather than hurl for the Memphis Chickies, to whom Terry shifted him after he failed to respond satisfactorily in spring training to an operation to correct a back ailment.

This bit of eccentricity got the 35-year-old right-hander placed on Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis' ineligible list, from which he also must remove himself before he can return to the diamond.

"I'm going to Memphis this week-end and talk to Bill Terry and will decide what I'll do after that," Castleman said today at his farm home near here.

"I've kept myself in good shape hunting and working on the farm and believe I could make the Giants a winner. I haven't heard from Ott since I wrote him asking for another shot with the Giants, but I'm sure he will give me one if he can fix things up with Terry."

BACK STILL TROUBLESOME

And that back injury? It was cleared up this winter, but I still feel a slight pang of pain whenever I try any vigorous exercise," he said. "I'd like to give it a shot, anyhow."

Castleman is married and has a 3-A draft classification.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Fight Promoter Joe Lynch will hand Commr. Richard Bolton of the U. S. Navy a check for $3,893 today, the proceeds from the Chalky Wright-Richie Lemos boxing show Tuesday night.

The naval relief show grossed $19,199, Lynch said. Wright, who won a sixth round K. O., and Lemos each received $1748. Wright gave the rest of his winner's purse, $374, to the relief fund.

Ted Better Hitter Than Joe—Pytlak

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 5 (AP)—The question of whether Yankee Joe DiMaggio or Ted Williams of the Red Sox is the best hitter isn't even debatable as far as Little Frankie Pytlak, Boston's veteran catcher, is concerned.

"Ted Williams is a better hitter than Joe DiMaggio," argued Pytlak, one of the first arrivals at this growing baseball colony. "If they had pitched right to Williams last year he'd have hit 425 or better."

Toughest Man In Baseball Awaits Call

BOYD, Tex., Feb. 5 (AP)—Baseball's pine knot, a little guy who's as amazed as anybody else at his own durability, took a few practice throws and pronounced himself ready for his twenty-second season.

Jackie Reid, who would like to pitch when he's 100 years old, doesn't have to get into shape to start a campaign. He did that in 1921 and has been warmed up ever since.

Reid starts the Texas League season with Dallas in April, the oldest active player in professional baseball.

HURLED OVER 600 GAMES

He'll be 47 and you can bet your socks if the little guy has control (which he seldom is without) it'll be a tough night for the opposing team.

Jackie—who says his real name, Herschel Nathaniel, is sixty—has pitched in more than 600 games since he started with Mineral Wells in the old Texas-Oklahoma League and only one season did he fail to win as many as he lost.

That hurt wee Jackie's pride. They call him the fireman because he's always saving games for somebody else.

He never has weighed over 155 pounds. That's why he never could get into the majors although Bob Connery, scout for the Yankees, once told him:

"I never saw you pitch a bad ball game."

Jackie never throws a fast ball. It just comes down there tantalizingly slow, low and true.

QUIET-LIVING FARMER

Reid lives quietly at his farm here. No running around nights, except maybe to practice his tenor voice at a social; no drinking. And he's as quiet on the diamond as at home. He never was put out of a ball game by an umpire.

Reid has played with 19 clubs in nine leagues. He jumped into pro ball after one season with a town team at Graham, Tex. His experience prior to that was "slipping off and playing once in awhile and then getting a good licking from my mother." He was supposed to stay home and help make a living.

"I'd like for it to be out there on the ball field."

AMATEURS PAY $5.00 FOR PRO GOLF PARTNER

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5 (AP)—Eighty-eight amateur golfers paid $5 apiece today for the privilege of teaming with a like number of professionals in a best-ball 18-hole event which serves as a warmup for the western open, starting tomorrow.

The entry fees go into a pot to provide a financial incentive for the men who make their living on the links.

Most of the amateurs are Arizona and winter visitors, but there are a few who can shoot with the best of the money boys. Take Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, for instance, winner of Bing Crosby's recent tournament at Rancho Santa Fe.

DAWSON AROUND UNDER PAR

He went around the course yesterday in 69, two under par. He is paired with Herb Bowers, Globe, Ariz., pro.

And there is Ellsworth Vines, tennis pro and golf amateur, who plays with Lee Ray Garrett, Beaumont, Tex.

Bruce Barton, New York advertising executive, teamed with Dick Metz, Oak Park, Ill.

Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., came within two strokes of the Phoenix Country Club course record yesterday by shooting a 6-under par 65.

Last year he played with Barry Goldwater, Phoenix amateur, to win the pro-amateur affair. Today he goes around with Dr. E. Payne Palmer, Jr., Phoenix. In the same foursome are Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., and Neil McGinnis, Phoenix.

SHOW STARS TOMORROW

Byron Nelson, Toledo, paired with H. B. Askins, Phoenix; Ray Gul-dahl, Rancho Santa Fe, with C. A. Upton, Phoenix, and Jimmy Demaret, Detroit, with Del E. Webb, Phoenix, to mention only a few of the many top-flight pros playing.

The field of stars will get down to serious business tomorrow with the first 18-hole round of the $5000 show western open.

Sox, Tribe Enriched By Coast Players

By HERB FINNEGAN

There are six ball players coming up to the Boston clubs from the Coast League this year. To the Braves: Shortstop Froilan Fernandez from San Francisco, Pitcher Louis Tost from Hollywood, Catcher Clyde Klutts from Sacramento. To the Red Sox: Pitcher Yank Terry from San Diego, Catcher Bill Conroy from Oakland, Shortstop Eddie Pellagrini from San Diego.

A good, solid league, that on the Pacific Coast. For example Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Dick Newcomb, Dom DiMaggio and others of the Sox served their apprenticeship there; Paul Waner, Max West and Manny Salvo of the Braves.

How good is this new crop? How much will they help our Boston clubs? Let Charlie Fallon of Quincy appraise them. Fallon, 1937 captain at Boston College, was the No. 1 catcher on the pennant winning Seattle club, and watched the six rookies all season.

BRAVES

Froilan Fernandez Really great hitter. All wrist action. Tremendous power. Record proves his greatness at bat. Second in league in hitting with .327. Led league in RBI with 129. In home runs with 19. In triples with 15. In total bases with 368. In hits with 231. Clinch to be great hitter in majors. Respectable fielder, but doesn't compare with Pellagrini in this respect. Perhaps better at third than at short.

Froilan Fernandez

Catcher Clyde Klutts—Slashing hitter with arm which will have National League talking in first week. Led league leader Johnny Moore in hitting .336, but was at bat only 232 times, whereas Coast League will not award prize to anybody who has not been at bat 450 times. Right-handed batter who can rifle ball to right field must as Rogers Hornsby used to do. In fact stands deep in batter's box like Hornsby, and hits in much same fashion. Line drive hitter, who will do as well at Braves Field as he would in a hand box. Only 23 but married and safe from draft. Great prospect.

Pitcher Louis Tost — Won 13, lost 10, with Hollywood. Fast, but curve ball can stand improvement. RED SOX

Pitcher Yank Terry—Led league in victories with 26, also in earned run allowance with 2.31. Not too fast, but ball's alive, always dipping or sailing. Smart veteran of 29 who won a couple of games in playoffs besides his 26 during regular season. Iron man, too. Pitched 315 innings. Sure winner in any league.

Shortstop Eddie Pellagrini—Remarkable fielder with best throwing arm in Coast League. Long hitter and more consistent than 270 average shows. For example, in game with Portland last year he drove five balls 370 feet or more and all were outs in large San Diego Park. "Five homers in Fenway," mocked Portland Manager Oscar Vitt. Only 19 homers hit out of large San Diego Park all season, and Pellagrini hit two of them. Left field fence 345 feet from plate. Left field fence at Fenway only 315 feet away. As good a fielder as Rizzuto of Yankee, Fallon says, and Fallon played full season with Rizzuto at Norfolk in Piedmont League. Went 33 games without error at opening of season, accepting more than 100 chances. Given error on line drive by Jo-Jo White with infield playing in, then played 12 more errorless games. Great prospect who will give rival Johnny Pesky battle of his life for job.

Catcher Bill Conroy: Smart handler of pitchers. Good arm, but nothing compared to that of Klutts's, who can throw like Gabby Hartnett in prime. Streaky hitter. Batted .298 in 89 games, but at one time was above .400 mark. Good power. Six home runs last year. Will help Sox more in way he handles pitchers than at bat. Has yet to find himself at bat, but there is hope, because Klutts didn't find himself until last year.

That's what Charlie Fallon thinks of the six boys who are coming to the Boston major league clubs. He's wild about Klutts, Fernandez, Pellagrini and Terry. Thinks Tost must improve his curve ball and Conroy his hitting before they stick.

Know a couple of other Coast Leaguers he's crazy about? None other than Pitcher Woody Rich and Outfielder Johnny Barrett, both of whom were with the Sox at Sarasota last spring. Barrett, a Lowell boy, was purchased by the Pirates at season's close. Rich was sold by the Sox to Gabby Hartnett's Indianapolis team of the American Ass'n.

Fallon can't understand why the majors didn't go for Les Webber, Seattle pitcher, whom Brooklyn took in the draft. "Great pitcher," says Charlie. "Can do anything. Even hit, run and slide" . . . Dick Barrett, old Braves pitcher, won 30 games for Seattle and "will can win in the majors," says Fallon. Barrett led the Coast League pitchers in 1940.

McCoy Is Coxswain In Naval Reserve

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (INS)—Benny McCoy, 25-year-old infielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, joined the ranks today of the high-priced athletes in the American armed forces.

He was sworn in as a coxswain in the Naval Reserve at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. McCoy, whose home is in Grand Rapids, Mich., would have been subject to early call for the Army had he not signed up with the Naval Reserve.

SOPH MAY BEAT B. C. CAPTAIN TO RELAY SPOT

Boston College will hold final time trials late today to decide the makeup of its one mile relay team for the Millrose Games in New York Saturday night.

Capt. Johnny Ballantine, who expects to become a second lieutenant in the Army within a few weeks, must fight off the challenges of sophomores Jim Kelleher and Bob Ross if he is to make the New York trip.

Roslindale's Ballantine has been devoting as much of his time to study for his commission in recent weeks that it will be no surprise if he fails to make the quartet.

Seniors Bill Riley, Jamaica Plain, and Ed McCarthy, Medford, and junior John O'Connor, South Boston, have practically clinched positions. Riley, O'Connor and Ballantine were on last year's quartet. Bill Dowd, 1941 co-captain, was the fourth member.

Kelleher, blond youngster from Lawrence, who was a member of the Eagle grid squad for a short time last fall, has turned in some sparkling efforts to date. He may best Capt. Ballantine and Ross for the fourth place on the team.

Chisox Plan to Play 14 Night Games

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (INS)—The Chicago White Sox today prepared to take full advantage of the 14-game night schedule approved at the New York joint major meeting for every club except Washington.

Returning from the eastern conference, Harry Grammer, Sox vice-president, indicated his team would play every after-dark game allowed for the forthcoming season. What the Cubs, with their lightless Wrigley Field, would do, remained a mystery, however.

Harvard's 11-Year Swim Reign Over Dartmouth Seen Ended

The end of an 11-year drouth is in sight for the Dartmouth swimming team when it faces Harvard tomorrow night at Hanover. Since 1931, when M-D water rivalry began, the Indians have been dunked regularly by Coach Hal Ulen's webfeet.

This year, however, Dartmouth is loaded. The addition of half a dozen stars from last year's freshman squad has given Coach Karl Michael the necessary balance. Sprinters Fred Worthen and Bob Feldman are conceded the edge over Ulen's free-stylers, paced by Soph Johnny Eusden. Eusden, edged out last year by the Indian pair, has been improving steadily in the four varsity meets, and Ulen considers a 24-second fifty and a 53-second hundred necessary to top his ace.

Coast Skier Urges Interstate Meets

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH
FRANCONIA, N. H., Feb. 5.—Transforming a barn into a Swiss chalet is quite a task. However, this feat was accomplished two years ago by Hans Thorne, famous Swiss ski instructor, and his wife, Florence.

Through hard work this couple have realized a life's ambition and now have a most inviting abode for skiers in Franconia, at the foot of the Coppermine Trail. Called the Thorne House, this rendezvous can accommodate about 25.

Hans has recently added a new bunk room to the building, which is very popular with groups of club and college skiers. There is plenty of room here for lounging and relaxation, with ping-pong tables and a cocktail lounge and other equipment for the skiers' enjoyment. Upper and lower verandas and sun decks swing half-way around the building.

Hans came to this country from Switzerland in 1934 with an excellent record as a certified instructor and racer. He conducted the Mt. Washington Ski School at the Glen House in Pinkham Notch for three seasons.

CLOSE CALL.
As a diversion from tedious instruction classes, this chap loves to make swift runs down the trails on Cannon Mountain.

Once, it seems, he was riding his hickories down the Cannon Mountain trails in a race between skiers in the mid-section several snow fences had been placed to hold the powder from the wind's assaults. As Hans came roaring along, he saw two skiers standing, of all places, in front of the snow fences. Seeing some nice way mounds of snow beyond, Hans scudded through this narrow aperture, leaving the "snow bunnies" gasping. But when he hit what he thought were mounds of snow, he discovered that they were really rocks covered with light powder, and was sent spinning through the air.

"I was really only lame for a few days," he stated with a smile. "After all, such spills are all part of the game."

A guest at the Thorne House was Dr. Frank Howard, president of the California Ski Association, who had just given a showing of his movie, "Ski Thru," at the Franconia Town Hall. We had missed the film in Boston and were certainly fortunate in seeing it here, for it is one of the best skiing pictures yet made.

INTERSTATE SKIING
Dr. Howard is most enthusiastic about our developments in New England and thinks they far exceed anything in the West. Besides being a clever photographer, he is also an expert skier and racer.

"Interstate races for skiing teams should be promoted in the East," he told us. "Such competition helps the sport and produces keen and friendly rivalry. Imagine the interest if a team representing the State of Vermont was racing Maine, New Hampshire."

You have got something there, Doctor!

Maryland Solons Insist on Tax, Charity or Not

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Legal sanction was given today to a plan of Maryland's four major race tracks to donate to war relief funds the profits of one regular racing day each.

Atty.-Gen. William C. Walsh informed Racing Commission Chairman Chester F. Hockley that there was no objection to the tracks making such a contribution provided state taxes first were deducted from the net revenue of the designated days.

Tracks which would donate one day's profit each to the Red Cross, U. S. O., Army or Navy relief funds or other war service are Pimlico, Havre de Grace and Laurel.

PERO BOWLS NEW RECORD

Charlie Pero became holder of both the single and three-string candlepin records last night at the Eagle Alley, Roxbury, when he bagged a total of 416 for three strings while bowling for the East Boston quintet in the Inter-City League.
